AWAIT ACTION OF PRESIDENT COOLIDGE ON FARM RELIEF

Farm Relief Bill Passes In House; Up To Coolidge

Action Of President On McNary-Haugen Bill Is Matter Of Conjecture

PROFESS TO SEE POLITICAL ISSUE

Measure Passes In House By Insufficient Votes To Override Veto

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Congress laid a swaddling infant—the $250,000,000 McNary-Haugen farm relief bill—on the doorstep of President Coolidge today.

The youngster was clothed with political dynamite and yelled loudly for a chance in life. Mr. Coolidge was given the task of adopting the child or turning it back to Congress.

Divided In Opinions

Administration supporters were sharply divided in their predictions. The majority opinion is that he will veto the bill. Those who believe in the veto denounce the bill as a price-fixing measure and a dangerous experiment which would put the government in the farming business.

Sponsors of the bill, on the other hand, declaring that Mr. Coolidge had left the problem to Congress and thereby was virtually pledged to sign it.

Political observers saw in Mr. Coolidge's action an answer to the riddle of 1928. Approval of the bill, they asserted, would be tantamount to a declaration of his candidacy for the next Republican presidential nomination.

See Political Effect

With the Middle West aroused over the farm relief problem a veto would boom the stock of two other presidential aspirants. Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, it was predicted.

An alternative course open to the president is to permit the bill to become a law without his signature, but few believe that he will adopt such negative a course.

The bill passed last night by the House, 214 to 178, after a spectacular fight of nine hours, in which the farm bloc rode down all opposition. The margin of victory, 36 votes, was about what had been anticipated, and it is too small to permit of hope of re-passage over a veto.

Mines To Suspend Two Days Of Week, 10,000 Effected

(International News Service)

HAZELTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—Orders suspending operations Monday and Tuesday of next week were posted today by the Lehigh Valley Coal company here. Nearly 10,000 men will be affected.

The Cranberry and Hardwood collieries of the Cranberry Creek Coal company shut down today and work will not be resumed until Monday. More than 2,000 men are idle in these two collieries.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company, it was announced today, will suspend 500 workers at the Ashmore shops tonight. They will be taken back Wednesday when operations will be resumed.

Slack demand for coal because of the mild winter was said to be responsible for the shutdowns of the mines, the fifth to occur in as many weeks.

"How much will I have to pay for a good house in the suburbs?" The answer is in the Classified ads today.

Officers Shoot Fugitive Who Killed Chief

(International News Service)

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., Feb. 18.—Swift justice descended on George Schmauss, 27, when police and sheriff deputies killed him as he hid under a bed in an old hospital here early today.

Schmauss had shot and killed Chief of Police Opal J. Hughes, 32, yesterday when he attempted to serve a warrant from Muncie brought against Schmauss by his wife for non support.

An all night search by Alexandria and country officers during which Schmauss was wounded as he fought off the searching officers, terminated at six o'clock when the delinquent husband met death from the gun of Deputy Sheriff Walter Hepfer.

Hepfer fired at Schmauss as the latter made a sudden dash for freedom from his hiding place; the victim died instantly.

Japan To Accept Coolidge Proposal

(International News Service)

TOKIO, Feb. 18. — Japan will make an unconditional acceptance of President Coolidge's invitation to participate in an armament parley, it is understood in Tokio today. The cabinet, according to reports, has approved the reply to President Coolidge and the Emperor's sanction will be obtainable Saturday.

The reply will probably point out the difficulty of solving the armament question unless France and Italy agree to participate in the arms conference.

Civil War In Nicaragua To Be Smothered

United States Acts To Check Spread Of Trouble In Central America

LARGE FORCE OF MARINES ON WAY

Action Is Taken To Prevent General Conflagration In Central America

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The American government has decided to smother the Nicaraguan civil war, hoping to prevent a general conflagration in Central America.

This was the only explanation advanced today for the sudden dispatch of 1,400 additional marines to the little republic. With these reinforcements the United States will have in Nicaragua a mobile force of rifles equal in size to the Sacasa revolutionary army and, of course, enormously superior in effectiveness.

Smothering Process

The smothering process apparently is to involve policing the entire country, from Honduras on the North to Guatemala on the south—no light undertaking in view of the scarcity of good roads and transportation. How long it will be necessary can only be guessed, but the concensus today was that the marines are in Nicaragua to stay for a long time.

There was not much pretense in Washington today that the marines, bluejackets and airplanes have been

Council Gets Three Fire Station Sketches

All Are Referred To Committee For Further Consideration

New Fire Station To Be Erected On South Jefferson Street

Three architects today submitted to council sketches of a proposed fire station to be built in South Jefferson street by the city of New Castle. The sketches were referred to committee by council.

Those who submitted sketches are: J. W. Earl, J. A. Altschuler and J. W. Miller. Council recently asked that sketches be submitted today.

The firm of W. G. Eckles & company submitted a communication to council which claims the competitive sketch system is impracticable. The firm did not submit a sketch. The letter said that anyone can submit a sketch but it is a different proposition to plan and supervise erection of a building.

Councilmen remarked that in asking for competitive sketches they desired variation and it does not necessarily mean that those who submitted sketches or those who might have would have been asked to prepare the plans for the building.

Believe Stranger Victim Of Poison Booze; May Recover

Police were last night about 6:40 o'clock advised by Mrs. Durst of 17 West Chartes street that there was a man lying in an alley near her home who was apparently in a serious condition.

Officers M. J. Young and Dukes answered the call and found John Anton, who rooms on Moravia street, in an unconscious condition, evidently as a result of drinking poisoned liquor.

He was removed to the city police station and a physician called. The physician used restorative methods on the man, who remained unconscious and was frothing at the mouth. When the methods employed did not secure the desired results the man was ordered to the Shenango Valley hospital by the physician. He was taken there by Officers Samuels and Dukes. He was apparently in a very serious condition and the result was considered uncertain for a time.

He, however, recovered consciousness at four o'clock this morning and according to the attending physician his chances of recovery from the use of poison liquor are now considered good.

Little Hope For Wage Agreement; Both Sides Firm

Operators-Miners Wait Upon Each Other For Break In Negotiations

SIX WEEKS TILL CONTRACTS EXPIRE

Sub-Committee Meets Behind Closed Doors To Try To Effect Agreement

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18.—The wage conference turned into an endurance test today between bituminous mines and operators.

Both sides stalled for time waiting for the other to withdraw. Both looked for the opportunity to place the blame upon the other for a breakdown of the negotiations.

There is so little hope for success in arriving at a new agreement here that many of the delagates planned a trip to Havana over Saturday and Sunday, returning Monday to resume meetings of the sub-committee on a new scale. Others made arrangements for deep sea fishing expeditions.

Nearly six weeks remain before the present contract expires. Most of the operators are not worried over a short suspension after April 1, because of the large stocks of coal above ground. They point out that the country would not be acutely affected, if at all. If there should be a two or three months' tie-up. Neither camp, however, desires a general strike that might paralyze the solf coal industry for eight or nine months.

This explains why no deep concern is being shown over the failure here to break the impasse between the miners' demand for a continuance for two years of the $7.50 a day basic wage, and the operators, insistence upon a competitive wage with a revision downward to meet the non-union scale. Leaders of both sides privately predict that an arrangement likely will be made later to save the country from a serious strike. This may come about by the union signing separate contracts with a majority of the producers in the central com-

Report Hangchow In Flames After Flight Of Troops

Reports Say Retiring Chekiang Soldiers Loot City And Apply Torch

SHANGHAI BATTLE NOW IMMINENT

Cantonese Troops Continue Drive—Foreigners Evacuate Hangchow

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18.—Unconfirmed reports from Hangchow today declared the city in flames. The retiring Chekiang soldiers were reported to have looted the city and then applied the torch.

Authoritative reports to the China Press, English language daily of Shanghai, said the nationalist forces were completely in control of Hangchow, although the southern troops had not occupied the city. A Kuomintang government has already supplanted that of the fleeing Chekiang officials.

Cantonese Continue Drive

After defeating the Sun Chuan-Fang troops on three fronts yesterday, the Cantonese continued their drive toward Kashing, where Sun is reported entrenching himself in a desperate effort to halt the southerners' drive toward Shanghai.

The atmosphere in Shanghai was extremely tense, as it was evident the deciding struggle for the possession of Shanghai is developing swiftly. Foreign officials here declared the capture of Shanghai may come, as usual in Chinese military poltics, with lightning-like suddenness.

Twenty thousand of Sun Chuan-Fang's troops who evacuated Hangchow yesterday were entraining for Kashing, where the main line of defense is being established, with a second line at Sungkiang. Four thousand Sun troops arrived from Ningpo, and were dispatched to Sungkiang this morning. More troops are expected to arrive from Ningpo shortly.

Three Hundred More Injured In Storm Wake

Northern Louisiana And Middle Mississippi Struck By Tornado

TWISTER DODGES ALL BIG CITIES

Details Of Death Toll And Devastation Are As Yet Meager

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Feb. 18.—At least 25 persons were killed, 300 injured, some so seriously that they may die, and thousands of dollars worth of property was uprooted and destroyed by a tornado that swept northern Louisiana and middle Mississippi last night.

The death toll by towns was as follows:

Pleasant Hill, La., 11 dead, 25 injured.

Rose Hill, Miss., eight dead, 10 injured.

St. Joseph, La., seven dead, 15 injured.

The tornado originated in eastern Texas last night, twisted its way across north Louisiana and subsided in middle Mississippi.

Taking a zig-zag course, the tornado dodged big cities and tore a half-mile path of death and destruction across the rural districts. A heavy downpour of rain followed the storm.

Wires were down in many places and only meager details of the extent of he toll of the twister were available early today.

MR. RENTZ TELLS IN LETTER OF FORMER NEW CASTLE RESIDENTS SEEN IN SOUTH

Following is an interesting letter from Fred L. Rentz, president of The New Castle News company, who with his wife is now enjoying a few weeks stay in the south. In the letter he tells of former New Castle folks that he has greeted since leaving New Castle as well as facts concerning the cities and districts visited. The letter is as follows:

Miami, Fla., Feb. 14, 1927.
George W. Conway, Esq.,
Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear George:—

I did not tell you that I was going to write you my impressions of my trip south, but I think I had better do something as I am still on the payroll. I will say at the start, that so far it has been a great trip and is really more than I expected.

We left New Castle at 9:52 on Thursday evening, February 3. We got to Washington, D. C., the next morning at about 8:30 without any mishap or excitement. After a very pleasant breakfast with the Rev. Dr. C. H. Holcomb of the First Christian church in New Castle, we got aboard an Atlantic Coast Line train headed for Jacksonville and Miami. We got past Jacksonville without me seeing it as it was in the night and I was asleep, anyway, I was in a berth.

After leaving Washington we had a reminder of the world war in the shape of a flock of government ships anchored in the Potomac river. There were a great many of them and if Mr. Ford ever gets them all made into his great family cars everybody will be supplied with an auto. After the war had been on for about a year and this country had not been able to build any ships under the Dem administration they sent for Charles Schwab and asked him to take charge of ship building and if they had not stopped him in a year or so they would have had to furnish him some new oceans to hold all the ships he was making. It sure looks like a great waste of ships when one sees the many in different waters of this country, but what are we going to do about it?

There was nothing particularly exciting from Washington to Miami. There was so much traffic on the Dixie highway along the east coast that all the crocodiles and alligators were scared into the interior and even the buzzards were not in sight. It used to be a common sight to see either of these products of Florida from car windows at any time. Pine trees and palms of the cabbage variety makes up the scenery most all the way. Of course, there is also much sand and lots of water. Where the marsh land exists many canals can be seen. These canals drain the land and some are quite extensive in length and width.

This brings us to the city of Miami. It is a wonderfully, beautiful city even now after the hurricane. Wonderful paved streets and the finest buildings it has been our pleasure to see. The sky line from the water front equals that of New York. The streets are wonderful. They are paved with what is called Pitt Rock, and this rock is everywhere a few feet underground and in some places crops out of the

College Boys Take Plunge Into Creek

FIRST SWIM OF THIS YEAR

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 18—This little town, the home of Westminster College, has its own contribution as to signs of spring. Wednesday evening, two men students of the college, took a plunge in the Neshannock creek. They reported the water fine but the air a little chilly.

Albert Berry of Washington, Pa., and Roland Vogan of Sandy Lake, Pa., were the adventurous students. The "offense" is not the first one for Berry. He is a member of the senior class and for the past three years has "enjoyed" a swim sometime during the month of February.

The two young men, moonstruck Wednesday evening, at which time it will be remembered, it was very light and balmy, decided to take a walk about 10:30. When they reached the creek about one-half mile from town, Berry decided that conditions were favorable to the extent that the date of his annual plunge could be moved forward. Vogan decided to keep his friend company, with the result that a swimming party was enjoyed.

New Wilmington folk believe their contribution is considerably better than the report of the presence of robins, snakes, etc concentrated in Nicaragua merely to "protect American lives and property". A handful of marines could do that—as they have done it in nearly every "banana republic" on divers occasions in the last 20 years.

To Meet Situation

The force being concentrated in Nicaragua today is different. It is enormously larger, better equipped and operating directly under the orders of the State Department, which now feels it is prepared to cope with any eventualities, irrespective of whether those eventualities are in Nicaragua, in Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala—or Mexico.

Besides the large force of marines now on Nicaraguan soil there is at close hand most of the scouting fleet, which carries thousands of bluejackets. They could be landed at any spot in Central America in a short time. And there are Quantico, Paris Island and San Diego, another force of 1,000 marines available for duty and "awaiting orders".

Developments Watched

It was developments outside Nicaragua, rather than inside, that prompted the administration to make this new and greater display of armed strength in the Caribbean, it was said today.

Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, the Nicaraguan revolutionary leader, has refused to be intimidated by the marines sent to impress him many weeks ago. Despite their presence Sacasa has regularly secured arms and ammunition from Mexican sources, as well as peso loans, and so marked have been his military successes over the American-supported President Diaz that anti-American revolutionists throughout Central America have been encouraged to "start things". There have been rumblings of a new revolution in Honduras for several weeks.

petitive field and in the outlying districts.

Some of the larger producers in Illinois and Indiana were said to favor this scheme rather than undergo a prolonged tie-up, if a strike can be headed off in no other way. Ohio and Pennsylvania operators, hardest hit by the non-union competition in West Virginia and Kentucky, declared they were ready for a finish fight with the union over the wage question. Some of these owners intimated they might follow the example of the Pittsburgh Coal company and turn non-union after April 1.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, may make some concessions on working conditions but he is disposed not at all to accept a pay cut at this time.

The sub-committee kept the doors closed at its session again today.

Thirteen states voted solidly for the measure—Arkansas, Arizona, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming.

Eight states voted solidly against it—Vermont, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New Hampshire, connecticut, Delaware, Maine and Massachusetts. The large New York delegation gave only two votes in favor of it, and 37 against. Ohio split 8 for, and 12 against, Illinois 8 for, and 7 against Pennsylvania 8 for and 19 against.

While predictions from all sides indicate that another cold wave is on the way, New Castle and Lawrence county are still a litle skeptical. The weather conditions did change a little during the night and morning but not sufficient to indicate any severe cold wave.

Goff Takes Stand In Daugherty Case

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Senator Guy D. Goff of West Virginia, who was assistant attorney general under Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, took the witness stand today in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial, and assumed full responsibility for the approval of the $7,000,000 Swiss society claim, and removed all blame from the shoulders of the former attorney general.

The white-haired senator vigorously declared that he approved the claim after full investigation and found nothing irregular with it.

Former Attorney General Daugherty is on trial with Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

Henry Ford Was Great Risk Says Banker-Writer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Henry Ford is "marvelous." he is "amazing," he is an industrial iconoclat, he is "like aces back to back"—and as risky as "a bob-tail flush"

All these descriptions—and more—were used today by Waddell Catchings of New York, a banker and writer, in painting a picture of America's first billionaire to the U. S. Board of tax appeals, which is considering the $30,000,000 Couzens-Dodge tax suit.

"Ford was the greatest industrial genius of our time—his name is the best known in the world" Catchings said.

"On the other hand Ford was the greatest risk in the Ford Motor company in 1913. Now that he has been successful we can see that in the past he used sound judgment—but he always went against the judgment of most other people in the motor business."

More absorbent—Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

FEW women today cling to the old-time "sanitary pad"—risky and uncertain—because of a new way called KOTEX.

It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads. Thus you wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 80% better class women now use it. Doctors widely urge it. Most hospitals employ it.

Costs only a few cents for a package of 12 at any drug or department store. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Sees Opportunity Here; Starts New Industry

Another industry permanently located in New Castle is the Cut Stone Works of Nicholas Miller, who has been located in a temporary plant on the Pennsylvania railroad south of Grant street.

Mr. Miller whose home is in Massillon, O., and who came here to do the cut stone work for the new St. Mary's Catholic church, has found such a demand for his work that he expects to locate permanently here and move his family here. He is contemplating replacing the present temporary structure with a large structural steel building and equip it with improved equipment for cut stone work.

Mr. Miller said that he was now working on several large projects among which are the First Christian church of Ellwood City, the Arthur McGill school, the Shenango township school and "The Castleton," as well as several smaller jobs.

The present plant is equipped with an air compressor by which several compressed drills are operated for working the stone.

Plans are to add a stone planer and diamond saw to the equipment which will greatly facilitate the work. The stone used is Indiana limestone, the best obtainable and the kind that the United States government uses in its postoffice and other government buildings.

Mr. Miller was born in Germany the son of a stone cutter and 36 years ago came to America and has been always in the trade he was reared to. He now employs about 15 men in the plant but when the new building is erected will need to increase his force.

Mr. Miller has hopes that the business of his works will increase steadily as with the large number of building projects in this community it will be found of an advantage to have the stone cut in the locality of the building rather than having it shipped from other points.

Sixteen Enlist On Thursday Evening In New Military Unit

SIXTY MEN WILL BE ENLISTED

While but fifty men are needed to secure recognition of Company B, 125th Mounted Engineers, as a unit of the military forces of the state and United States, Second Lieutenant Paul W. Keely, officer in command of Troop A, 104th Cavalry, who is in charge of the recruiting for the new unit, would like to secure at least sixty recruits in the next few days. This is the number required, when the unit is at full strength.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 35 years, who are physically and mentally equipped for army service and who have had engineering experience, or may be desirous of securing knowledge along that line, may enlist.

Those with previous military service of one year or more, may enlist for a period of one year, while those without military experience may enroll for three years service in the unit.

Quite a number of the members of Troop A, 104th Cavalry, which unit will be mustered out on Tuesday evening, February 22, at 7:30 p. m. are planning to enter the new unit. Sixteen members enlisted last night on the occasion of regular drill of the troop.

At this meeting, Arthur W. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was present and gave an interesting address on the troop and what the new unit will mean to the community.

Active recruiting for the new unit will now becarried on by Lieutenant Keely with the assistance of Sergeants Saltzer, Florida and Thorne. The armory on Neshannock avenue, will be open each evening until the quota is filled. It is hoped to have the quota of fifty men some time next week, and if possible by Tuesday night, when the Troop is mustered out.

Those desiring to get in touch with Lieutenant Keely for the purpose of enlisting, in case they cannot find him at the armory, can call him on Bell Phone 9175 or 422-M.

The last of the government equipment of Troop A was shipped to Harrisburg today. The horses will be shipped the first of next week to Mt. Gretna.

YOUTH TO DIE FOR MURDER OF HIS SWEETHEART

(International News Service)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 18.—Nineteen-year-old Rufus Chesser's last hope for life went a-glimmering today when the state supreme court refused him a writ of habeas corpus. He will die in the electric chair at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the murder of his sweetheart, Sally Hoyles, the youngest man ever to be executed in the state.

The state pardon board headed by Governor John W. Martin refused in a special session to commute the death sentence of the youth who was only 17 when he murdered his sweetheart, seven years his senior, in September on the day before they were to have been married.

General May Flee

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The concensus in Shanghai today is that Sun Chuan-Fang's retreat from Hangchow following the capture of that city by the Cantonese marks the beginning of the end for the Chekiang defender, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai.

Sun today issued a manifesto declaring he was prepared to make a strong stand in his new position, and that he expected ultimately to defeat the enemy.

It was reported in Shanghai, however, that the general is arranging to flee to Japan if the fight goes against him.

General Li Pai-Chen, defense commissioner for Shanghai, has telegraphed urgently to Peking for military reinforcements.

City Solicitor Says He is Not Delaying Bill

Solicitor Robert White today served notice on city council that he does not want councilmen to give out the impression that he is holding up the ordinance providing for the creation of a local recreational facilities board.

He said that as far as he has been concerned he has not had all of council together long enough to be able to sit down and tell them of the ordinance he has written or been able to ascertain their desires.

There is one ordinance in committee he has submitted, providing for the creation of the board, and the Federation of Women's Clubs would like an ordinance written somewhat differently, it is understood.

White explained that in his draft he had intentionally left out one section of the state law, because he has a doubt as to its constitutionality. The provision would allow council to delegate its power to the board.

His ordinance does not give the proposed board power to spend money for recreational facilities.

It is said that some of the sponsors of the ordinance do not want to operate, but supervise, the playground system.

According to the ordinance White has written six members would make up the personnel, the city superintendent of parks and ordinances being the ex-officio.

Police Chief Warns About Traffic Lights

Warning was issued this morning by Chief of Police Henry Dysart in regard to the manner of operating cars on the automatic traffic regulators at the principal street intersections of the city.

The chief states that red means to stop, amber to get ready to go but wait, and green to go. They mean this and nothing else and motorists are advised to act accordingly, also pedestrians.

According to the chief, many motorists, also pedestrians, seem to think that when the amber light shows up that it is time to start accross the intersecting street.

This is not true. When the red light changes to amber, it is simply a warning that the green light is about to appear and traffic may then proceed.

Motorists especially, according to the chief, must learn to "go" only on the green light. It is dangerous, especially in the matter of pedestrians, to do otherwise.

Motorists, who persist in going on the amber light, will find themselves entangled with the police and will be required to pay a fine.

To Ask Supreme Court To Prevent Police Interfence

Publisher Seeks To Continue Presentation Of "The Captive" In New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Horace B. Liveright, publisher, announced that his lawyer would apply to the supreme court this afternoon for an injunction to prevent the police from interfering with his proposed production of the play, "The Captive," which has already been closed as a Broadway attraction owing to police attacks upon it.

Liveright planned to start the production Monday, but fears that inability to obtain scenery will prevent. Gilbert H. Miller, former producer of "The Captive," declined to sell the scenery of the old production owing to an agreement he made with the police authorities.

Helen Menken, star of the old production, is scheduled to appear in Jefferson Market Court this afternoon, along with other members of the old cast to ask the magistrate to rescind their promise not to appear in the play again.

District Attorney Banton is making a flank attack against Liveright by reviving a charge that the firm of Boni and Liveright (of which Mr. Liveright is a member) published an immoral book in 1925. The book in question was called "Replenishing Jessica." An indictment was found but the case was never brought to trial.

JUST MAYBE IT'S YOU!

THAT community is indeed poor about which no good can be said, but poorer still is the citizen so blinded by petty prejudices and self-interest that his criticisms of the home-town are many and never interspersed with approbation.

Just as every human being has faults, every community, which is but a collection of human beings, has defects. But, considering the number of human failings, is it not surprising that the average city and town has so few shortcomings and can please so many?

In spite of these civic deficiencies there is not a community, not even the squalid frontier settlement, which, if it should count noses, would find its knockers exceeding in numbers its boosters. Would one say those who are blind to their town's disadvantages are more nearsighted than those who cannot see its advantages?

There would be less knocking if the knockers realized that a community is just what its citizens make it and that it is a confession of personal weakness to diagnose the home-town as incurably sick and decrepit. By their fault-finding they admit they have failed to do their part in making their town fit their ideal of what a community should be.

"WHOSE OX IS GORED?"

NEVADA in 1920 had 77,047 people. Possibly it has more now. There is hardly more than one radio-receiving set for every man, woman and child in Nevada, including the divorce seekers at Reno.

In the entire state, from one Sugar Loaf Peak in the northeast corner to another Sugar Loaf Peak in its southern tip, from Hat Mountain down to Carson City and from Pyramid Lake over to Nevada's third Sugar Loaf Peak at the edge of the Great Salt Lake Desert, there is not one—even one—radio-broadcasting station so far as is known. Nevertheless, Nevada's senator, Key Pittman, is doing more to prevent the enactment of a badly needed Radio Control Bill than any other citizen of the United States. He finds monopoly, inequity and whatnot in the bill, and because of him and the 77,000-odd Nevada folk who sent him to the senate, some 20,000,000 radio set owners are being worried and irritated, broadcasting is in more or less chaos and a great industry employing thousands of workers is being permitted to destroy itself.

THE LAW VINDICATED

AGAIN the law has been vindicated in the case of the Olney Bank bandit murderers. By the rejection of pleas for clemency in their behalf, the State Board of Pardons has undoubtedly reflected public sentiment, confirming the view that only by the stern fulfillment of the penalties provided in such cases can respect for the law be maintained.

In this case the murderous intent of the defendants was clearly shown. They were armed when they undertook to commit a felony. They used their weapons in an attempt to escape. They killed an officer of the law who tried to do his sworn duty.

Every resource of the law, including the last limit of technical delay, was invoked in behalf of these men. The Appellate Court denied their plea. They were allowed a reprieve to permit an application to the Pardon Board for a commutation of the death sentences. This has now been denied, and the law will be allowed to follow its course. It is a dreadful thing to take the lives of four condemned felons and murderers, but the law applying to their cases is explicit. They had a free and fair trial, and their escape from the penalty would have been a miscarriage of justice. —Public Ledger.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:39. Sun rises tomorrow 6:48.

After a woman gets a marcel wave in her hair and her husband buys the gas for the flivver, they're mighty lucky if they have enough left to pay the grocery bill. In fact, we've heard of several cases where they had to stand the grocer off after they had paid for the "necessities".

Every day we see people who are willing to take a chance by crossing Washington street between crossings and without paying any attention to the lights. We don't know why they are willing to take such risks, unless they carry plenty of life insurance.

France don't seem to want to quit building warships. Neither does she seem very anxious about paying the money she owes us. The next time our boys are asked to help France they should look in the other direction. About all those Frenchmen seem to like is to skin tourists and call Uncle Sam a Shylock.

There isn't much you can do about an artistic temperament after the victim is too old to spank.

One is at a loss to know how so many false rumors, good, bad and indifferent, get started in New Castle. Newspaper reporters spend a lot of time running down stories which are found to be entirely groundless. There must be some kind of a secret gossip factory doing business here.

An East Side woman wants to know why it is that the telephone rings or somebody knocks at the front door as soon as she gets upstairs. We don't know, unless it is because she happens to be upstairs when she ought to be down.

The coal operators and miners are trying to arrange a scale and working conditions for the next year and are enjoying the balmy breezes of Miami while doing it. PUNCTUATION REMARKS

The punctuation marks have personality. The period is imperative. It says "Stop here!" The comma is a free and easy little chap. He says "Slow up a bit, get your breath, and then trot along." The colon calls, "Oh, look what's coming—get ready!" Quotation marks give notice that the writer is letting some one else do the talking for a while. Parentheses mark the side paths when we leave the main line for a detour. Asterisks flash the message: "We're skipping something." The hyphen is a notice of partnership; sort of a typographical wedding ring.

An Old Time Central Comes Back To The Weary Waiter In His Office.

I have wished for the power of inventing,
A mirror to bring to your view;
The throng of the parties awaiting,
For Central to put a call through.

Of course Central saw your signal,
Served you, and hurried on then,
To take up the other connection,
Of other like business men.

And think you so strange that after
Answering many and many a call,
Your Number should now be forgotten,
By her, but by you not at all.

Would it be taxing your patience,
To kindly call her again,
Perhaps she can better now serve you,
Having answered a half-score of men.

If you happen to go to your home bank,
And were at the end of the row,
You would quietly await your turn,
Till the teller hands out your dough.

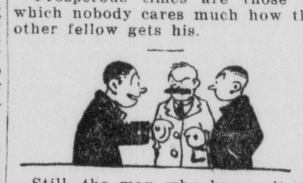

Or if in a lawyer's or doctor's office,
You had work for them to do,
You might have to wait in the hallway,
Until client or patient were through.

So remember, while traveling life's pathway,
There are others traveling here to,
You may sometimes be in behind them,
And then have the waiting to do.

And perhaps on trying next morning,
The fates may be more kind to you,
The early bird oft gets the worm,
So your call may first to go through.

Snubbing Uncle Sam.
South China Ahead.
Fat Girls Not Wanted.
Brave Italian.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

Briand, on behalf of France, tactfully but firmly snubs Uncle Sam. He says, "We can attend to our own disarmament and peace conferences under the league of nations, and need no help from the United States, which refused to join the league."

Let's hope this government will digest that snub and pay more attention to business of the United States and these two American continents and less to Europe.

It is not our business what Europe chooses to do about ships.

But it is the business of President Coolidge, his cabinet and the Congress to see that this country is able to take care of itself regardless of any league or other power.

If we devote energy to submarines, swift cruisers on the water, as many as are needed to protect our commerce and create the world's greatest air battle fleet, we shall have attended to our business.

Briand deserves the thanks of the United States for reminding us that our business is here, not in France.

As for Japan, the United States' suggestion that she diminish her fighting force leaves her cold. Her prime minister, Wakatsuki, says, "Japan must maintain her present strength on land and at sea". He might have added that Japan is steadily increasing her strength, on land and at sea, and particularly in the air.

When early Americans lived surrounded by wolves and Indians, they didn't send loving messages asking the wolves to blunt their teeth, or Indians to take the edge off their tomahawks.

They paid attention to their rifles and ammunition. Indians and wolves didn't bother them much.

South China is ahead in the civil war to decide whether north or south China shall have the pleasure of kicking out the foreigners. Soldiers in the northern armies are deserting, according to late news. All China is united in objecting to the United States' suggestion of a neutral zone to make foreigners safe. The Chinese don't want them "safe", they want them out.

Mr. Burgert, bachelor member of a very "old family" in Ohio, leaves money to build a home for girls "between the ages of 16 and 28, of small stature, bright, ambitious and good to look at". Fat girls are not to be admitted.

That will was made by a foolish bachelor. Young girls ought to be reasonably fat, with tissue and energy stored up for their duty as mothers. Girls of the skeleton type have barely energy enough for themselves, to say nothing of a family.

The Italian flyer, De Pinedo, starts tonight on his "hop" across the Atlantic, with no string of ships to look out for him, relying on the engines of his Italian flying machine and his own skill. This may be called the beginning of real ocean flying. Exciting now, it will be commonplace a few years hence.

Only a little while ago Lord Northcliffe offered $50,000 to anyone that would fly across the English Channel. Many children could do it today. Germany has flying lines as well organized as railroads, and charging the same fare as railroads.

A cheerful stock market Wednesday. You could borrow for speculating at four per cent. Railroad prices were up. Poor bears that took it into their heads to sell Baldwin Locomotive Co. got another lesson. The stock went up $9 a share—most annoying if you happen to be several thousand shares "short".

However, invest wisely, but don't gamble on either side of the market. You will lose if you do.

Many good investments in this world for those that hang on. When Edward Fitzgerald published his translation of the Rubiayat, that first edition sold for one penny in England. Wednesday J. F. Drake paid $3,200 for a copy.

When John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress was first published wise book people said, "Only servants will buy a book of that kind". One of the copies, sold originally for two pence, is worth thousands of dollars now.

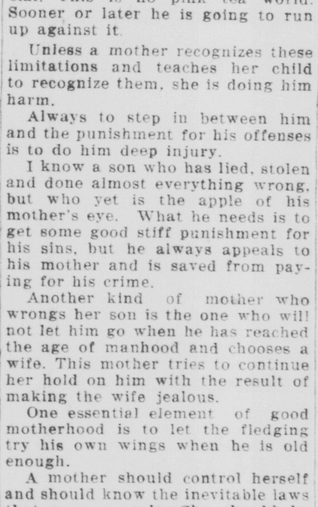

An 11-year-old boy, Michael Ponkraskow, ran away from home after a beating, killed a shopkeeper in an attempted hold-up, and is wondering what will become of him. It is said that he cannot be treated as a youthful delinquent, because he refuses to say that he is sorry he committed the murder. A childish reason, for lack of repentance is only one more proof of youthful delinquency.

In any case the boy will not be executed, even if put on trial for murder. Capital punishment survives, but killing children is no longer part of "civilization".

Major-General John Duncan of the Royal Scottish Fusiliers, who is in command of the Shanghai defense force, has had a long and distinguished career as an officer of the British army. The son of a lieutenant general, he was born 55 years ago and entered upon his military career when barely 21. In 1897-98 he served on the north frontier of India and for his services in the South African war he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order and the South African medal with five clasps. At the commencement of the war in Europe in 1914 he accompanied one of the first contingents of British troops sent across to France. Later in the war he took part in the Gallopoli campaign. He also commanded a division of the British army in the operations in Macedonia.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

BAD MOTHERING

Most mothers are good. But many mothers are too good, that is, they lean backward, and they do more harm than good to their children.

For instance, there is the too-indulgent mother. Everything her child does is right and she cannot ever bear to reprove him. I recall an incident of the wife of a prominent man who was out walking with her child. For some offense she slapped him, and she immediately knelt down in the snow and asked his pardon and promised never to do it again. Piffle!

It is all important to the young human being that he shall learn to recognize and respect the laws of the universe, moral as well as financial. This is no pink tea world. Sooner or later he is going to run up against it.

Unless a mother recognizes these limitations and teaches her child to recognize them, she is doing him harm.

Always to step in between him and the punishment for his offenses is to do him deep injury.

I know a son who has lied, stolen and done almost everything wrong, but who yet is the apple of his mother's eye. What he needs is to get some good stiff punishment for his sins, but he always appeals to his mother and is saved from paying for his crime.

Another kind of mother who wrongs her son is the one who will not let him go when he has reached the age of manhood and chooses a wife. This mother tries to continue her hold on him with the result of making the wife jealous.

One essential element of good motherhood is to let the fledging try his own wings when he is old enough.

A mother should control herself and should know the inevitable laws that govern souls. She should be wise and see that her son obeys them. It is to his interest to find them out soon and to govern his life by them. She must not prevent him from doing this.

Very often the devoted mother sees that her son is patted gently when he really needs a swift kick. In the end the hearty kick does him more good than the gentle pat.

Bible Thought For Today

THE SUPREME TEACHER:—Good and upright is the Lord; therefore will he teach sinners in the way. The meek will he guide in judgment; and the meek will he teach his way. Psalm 25:8, 9.

PRAYER:—Teach me, Lord, teach me thy way.

Imperialism is whatever another nation does to protect its commercial interests.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MOB JUDGMENTS.

Americans are a nervous people, and seem to be easily persuaded of the faults of others. There are too many citizens eager and willing to believe anything bad about their fellow citizens. There are too many who find a man guilty before he has even had a hearing upon the charges preferred against him. It used to be policy to attack the morals of the players upon the speaking stage. "Actor" and "Actress," not so many years ago, were considered synonymous words with all the nouns and adjectives used to describe immoral people. The present generation, seeing more movies than they do the real actors and actresses, have transferred their criticisms to the Movie Colonies at Hollywood, and other places. The various proposed boycotts of Charlie Chaplin's film productions are an example.

The critics thus disposed have no knowledge about the personal relations existing between Chaplin and his wife, except what they gather from the newspaper stories, the basis of which rests almost entirely upon statements made by attorneys for Mrs. Chaplin. These statements are on their face self-serving. Moreover, the personal affairs of Charlie Chaplin are none of anybody's business, outside of Charlie Chaplin's family. As one newspaper put it, "We feel no responsibility for an appraisal of Mr. Chaplin's personal defects or virtues; indeed, we cherish a feeling that such an appraisal when appropriate, will be taken care of in a competent and workmanlike fashion. The verdict of Innocence or Guilt will be duly rendered."

It is reasonable to protest against lynchings of any kind. It is a reprehensible practice to take a man charged with crime out of jail and string him up to a telephone pole, however disreputable or annoying a person the subject may be. It is equally reprehensible to punish a suspect by blasting his reputation or attempting to confiscate his property.

The attack made in the United States Senate upon the verdict of the jury in the United States Court which acquitted Messrs. Fall and Doheny is another example of the willingness and eagerness to punish a fellow citizen charged with crime, in spite of everything. An intelligent man always distrusts that sort of righteousness which is always panting after a chance to punish somebody.

THE EVERLASTING PUZZLE

I wonder what to think of him,
So filled with laughter and with joy,
But swayed by many a youthful whim
As every healthy boy.

At times I'm sure he puzzles me.
I think of him with anxious mind
But to his secret thoughts no key
Am I allowed to find.

And romping through his boyhood days,
Laughing, as though he'd naught to fear,
I look upon his youthful ways
And think him queer.

Yet age and youth can never see
Each other clearly through and through,
Perhaps no doubt he looks at me,
Puzzled by what I do.

As strange to him must seem my ways
As his at times to me appear.
No doubt he looks at me and says:
"That dad o' mine is queer!"

Sentence Sermons

IT ALWAYS PAYS—

To treat other people a little better than they treat us.
To keep your head in time of trouble—you may need it.
To forget scandal, no matter how sure you may be that it is true.
To let the other fellow get angry first.
To hesitate if the salesman seems to be in too much of a hurry.
To be agreeable even if you are turning some one down.
To get the other fellow's viewpoint even if you can't accept his advice.

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"When You Are Old," By William Butler Yeats.

This has always been to me a matchless work of art. From a quiet beginning, the stanzas mount to an imaginative climax that is all but bewildering. St. John Irvin, in his recent book on some of his elders, speaks of Yeats, in his personality, as a cold, aloof man; but surely that coldness and aloofness are not evident in his work. Irvin also speaks of the tired quality in much of the great Gaelic poet's songs, and cites "The Lake Isle of Innisfree" as an example of that desperate weariness. In cannot agree with him. Yeats is an inspired spectator at the pageant of life, and sometimes the scene fills him with dismay; but he is never bored. Indeed, he sees under and around all human existence and experience. He is contemplative—which certainly does not mean that he is tired.

When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep;

How many loved your moments of glad grace,
And loved your beauty with love false or true;
But one man loved the pilgrim soul in you,
And loved the sorrows of your changing face.

And bending down beside the glowing bars
Murmur, a little sadly, how love fled
And paced upon the mountains overhead
And hid his face amid a crowd of stars.

NEW MANSION FOR GOVERNOR

Bill Carrying Provision To Be Introduced Into State Legislature

By WILLIAM B. BROWN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 18.—Plans by which it is hoped to make possible the erection of a new executive mansion today were announced by State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis. A bill providing for execution of the plans and making an appropriation for the work will be introduced in the legislature next Monday.

Treasurer Lewis again reiterated his promise that if the bill passed he will find sufficient revenue to pay for the work without in any way interfering with Governor John S. Fisher's budget estimates. The bill carries an appropriation of $500,000.

Under the terms of the bill the state treasurer, auditor general and secretary of property and supplies would constitute a commission to carry on the entire project. The commission would serve without compensation except for actual expenses incurred.

The bill provides the entire working plan for the acquisition of the site, not yet selected, and the construction of the building. It also provides for the disposal of the present site and building.

Lewis said that he has no definite site in mind but that it should be located on Front street, which borders the Susquehanna river, he also believes that it should be as near as possible to the capitol and so situated that it cannot be hemmed by adjoining buildings.

"My thought is that the people of Pennsylvania should take the same interest and pride in their state executive mansion as the people of the nation take in the White House at Washington," Lewis said.

Canvass of members of the House and Senate and comment in the press has led Lewis to believe, he asserted, that the people favor the erection of a mansion in "keeping with the wealth and dignity of Pennsylvania."

While several of Pennsylvania's governors have strongly advocated a new mansion upon ending their term none has urged it while as chief executive.

If the bill passes this session it is hoped to have the new building completed in two years.

Mrs. Erminda Carlson Soloist At Meetings In Epworth Church

Mrs. Erminda Carlson, who will be the instrumental soloist and assistant to her husband, Sidney H. Carlson at the special evangelistic services which open Sunday, February 20 in the Epworth M. E. church, is a talented and versatile musician, thoroughly trained as an organist, pianist and violinist.

During the services, the recently appointed pastor, Rev. Samuel L. Maxwell, will be the preacher. Dr. Maxwell is one of the outstanding young ministers of the Erie Conference and his pastoriates have been highly successful. Epworth church is no exception. He is a forceful and logical speaker, with a pleasing personality and has great influence with the young people. He also has the tact and qualities that keeps the various organizations of the church working up to their best efforts.

Dr. Maxwell will present the gospel truths at this series of meetings in an appealing and convincing manner, leaving the hearer to make his own decision. He does not believe in taking advantage of his audience in order to create enthusiasm or to add in numbers.

Still, religion isn't the only thing to keep Al out of the White House. There's his politics.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Plan For Crusade

Reports from all of the large centers of the country show the Bishop's Crusade to be needed and very successful, if judged from the numbers attending and the enthusiasm.

In New Castle St. Andrew's and Trinity churches are to combine at Trinity church, located at the corner of North Mill and East Falls streets in a series of services beginning on Sunday evening and ending with a final service on Friday evening of the coming week.

The services will be: Holy Communion, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday 9:30 a. m., Tuesday and Thursday, 7:00 a. m.; Children's Crusade, beginning Monday, daily 4:30-5:00 p. m.; Hymn singing every evening, 7:45 o'clock, followed by Crusade Service and Sermon at 8:00 o'clock. For adults, the characteristic services will be those in the evening when special emphasis will be placed on the preaching. The general motto or text for the entire week will be:—"I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." St. John 12:32. The Crusader is the Rev. Malcolm P. Maynard, Rector of Grace church, Ridgeway, Pa.

Dewey Avenue Revival

"The Old Time Religion" was the theme of Evangelist Morris Bundy's sermon at the Dewey avenue Free Methodist church, Thursday evening.

The speaker said that in a general sense Christians have drifted from the Bible standpoint of salvation. The present age disregards the supernatural in religion. There is plenty of forms but very little of divine power manifested in our daily living or in our worship such as our grandparents had. There is too much formality and coldness.

If sinners are to be brought to Christ, the Christian must demonstrate to them that this old time salvation brings lasting joy and peace to our hearts. The God that answers by fire let Him be God and nothing short of Holy Ghost fire will burn the carnality from us.

Missionary Society

Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church met in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Devotionals were led by Mrs. W. A. Stritmater. A short talk on "Tithing" was given by Mrs. J. L. Stratton and a mite box demonstration by Mrs. J. E. Drake and Mrs. Rearic.

Mrs. J. B. Daugherty told of the splendid work carried on at Bennett Academy. A stewardship program was carried out under the direction of Mrs. Neigh. Refreshments were served by Mrs. F. J. Kile and group. The annual mite box opening will be held at the March meeting.

Special Speaker Here.

Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago, one of the largest churches of the denomination having a membership of almost three thousand, will be in this city on Wednesday and Thursday February 24-25.

Dr. Stone will make two addresses each day. At 12:15 p. m. he will speak in the Central Presbyterian church located on the city square and at 7:45 p. m. he will preach in the First Presbyterian church.

Now America has Surpassed Europe in its Own Type of Car

The Erskine Six, Studebaker's New 2⅓ Litre Car, embodies the engineering, aesthetic and economic principles of two continents—the beauty that Europe knows everything about—the luxury that America knows most about—and the economy that both will learn more about in the Erskine Six.

This smart cosmopolitan car has a Dietrich-designed body, a Studebaker constitution and a European complexion.

Big Car Comfort

The Erskine Six Custom Sedan is only 5 feet 7½ inches in height, yet it is so dimensioned within that men over six feet in height find ample head room and leg room without cramping.

Full vision steel body, with narrow pillars and wide-plate glass windows—a masterly creation by Dietrich, designer of costly custom bodies! And what a car to get about in!

Sparkling Performance

Nimble as a hare in the nip and tuck of traffic—turns in an 18-foot radius—accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 8½ seconds—and takes an 11 per cent grade without shifting gears.

Powered with a six-cylinder engine of the quiet L-head type, it gives 60 miles per hour without effort. Mounted on semi-elliptic springs with length equalling 82 per cent of the wheelbase—equipped with four-wheel brakes—and appointed with all the niceties of the European mode.

You save money when you buy it and money when you step on it! For the Erskine Six sells for less than a thousand dollars and gives you characteristic European economy of 25 to 30 miles to the gallon—putting tire costs and upkeep on the basis of francs and centimes.

The Little Aristocrat

Never before has any car come so close to being everybody's car as the Erskine Six—"the little aristocrat" of motordom. It appeals to the woman for its luxury and its lines. It appeals to the man for its practicality and price—and because it is a beautiful example of small car draughtsmanship and workmanship, its appeal is independent of price and above it!

The Erskine Six is a fifty-fifty cosmopolitan creation of the best engineering talent of two continents. Ideal as an ONLY CAR. Perfect as a SECOND CAR. In every way a TRUSTWORTHY CAR for town or travel.

Make a date with this Debutante of Sixes at the Show!

MILTON SILLS

MIGHTIEST OF THEM ALL

Not just because it took a whole year to make—not because 64 great players were chosen to support Milton Sills—not because the entire company went into one of the nation's greatest mills and there suffered hardship and privation to get this story for you. No—not just because it stands out as the most daring undertaking in cinema achievement today—because beneath the heat and turmoil of its tremendous story—while the vapor rises and the white hot steel overflows you realize the most touching drama of love and courage ever written.

BUT—

Ellwood Legion Leads In Contest

New Castle Post Must Take Spurt To Get Into Race

PERRY GASTON POST MEMBERS HUSTLING

J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion located at Ellwood City, is leading Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, of this city, in the inter-city membership drive by a margin of 91. Under the rules of the contest, Perry S. Gaston Post must have two members to one for the Ellwood City post to win.

It is nearly impossible for the membership committee of the local post to get in touch with all ex-service men that are eligible for membership in the Legion and it is urged that all ex-service men get in touch with Ivor V. Davis, general chairman or Harry M. Long, post commander, for a membership card.

It is the hope of the membership committee to have the local post, the largest in Western Pennsylvania and with the co-operation of all ex-service men, this can and will be accomplished.

The dues and initiation only amounts to $4.25 per year, a sum believed to be within the reach of each and every former service man.

By being a member of the American Legion, an ex-service man not only helps himself but also disabled former service men and all measures for the benefit of men who saw service in the World War.

Pat J. Dempsey, the district commander, is back of the drive, heart and soul, and hopes that the local post may win the national gold prize to be presented to the post gaining the most members.

Heads of the various big industries of the city have been asked to co-operate in making the Legion a hundred per cent membership in New Castle.

The responses from the various heads of industries has been most favorable and encouraging and in the near future, it is expected that it can be said that the plants have a hundred per cent Legion membership.

The zero hour is here in the matter of Legion membership. Lets go over the top.

Attempt Is Made To Blow Up Mine

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Work was suspended today at the Davidson Coal Company's South Connellsville mine when it was discovered that during the night an attempt had been made to blow up the mine with dynamite.

The dynamiters stole explosives from the coal company's powder house and exploded a heavy charge 300 feet inside the mine mouth, officials said.

Tracks were torn up, the roof of the mine blown off and the mine made unsafe for further operations until a thorough examination of the damaged parts has been made.

The mine was operated with non-union labor. It had an output of 50 tons a day.

HURT IN FALL

It was reported to the police last night that there was an injured man at the P. & L. E. crossing on South Mill street. Officers Steiner and James were detailed and found that Charles Jones had fallen there and sustained a bad cut on the head. He was removed to the police station, where his injury was cared for by a physician called by the police.

Mr. Rentz Tells Of New Castle Folks In South

ground. It is soft when mined and it is placed on the sand in layers and after water is put on it and it is rolled the result is a fine street and the cost per mile is less than ten thousand dollars. There is no frost to contend with, of course, and the road carries up the heavy traffic in fine shape. No better streets and roads exist anywhere and there seem to be more of them here than any place I have ever been. Silk and fur lined limosines crowd the highways in all directions and they are not all American built cars or flivvers.

There are hundreds of fine hotels and apartment houses here. No such hotels exist in any city in the world. Millions have been spent to make them the great places of entertainment they are. The rates vary also and one can get rooms at any price, from $1 a day up. We are located at the McAllister, and I was told the room we are in brought in forty dollars a day last year and there was a waiting list. To keep any of my friends from worrying I will state that we are paying about one-fourth that rate now. The season has not been rushing, the people evidently thinking the city all busted up, which is not the case. A great work has been done by an enthusiastic people and not many traces of the hurricane are visible in the city proper. The trees had all their leaves and small branches blown off and they look sort of skimp like. It will not be long until the tropical trees and shrubbery will look fine as ever. The wind was hard on the cocoanuts and they are not as plentiful as before the blow.

There are three newspapers here and they are all five cents apiece and I do not think any of them are as good as The News in New Castle.

I have met some of the millionaire publishers here and they have acted just like human beings toward a poor publisher from Pennsylvania. It feels sort of nice to sit with a publisher who is a millionaire. They don't have any of that kind in New Castle.

A few days ago Jack McNamara, and his wife and daughter, Edress, called on us and they have taken us about all over Miami in their big fat Packard. On Sunday they took us to Mr. David Jameson's former home here and we sure did enjoy looking it over. On Tuesday we all went to Palm Beach and while there had the pleasure of meeting David M. Kirk and family. Mr. Kirk is the boss of the big cement works at Wampum and very well known in New Castle and Lawrence county. He has a wonderful home on Sea Breeze avenue at Palm Beach.

Some years ago I was at Palm Beach and even then the price of an order of mashed potatoes was fifteen cents. I vowed at that time that some day I would go back there and eat a dinner of corned beef and cabbage in the Royal Poinciana. I have made good on that. This hotel, is probably the most elaborate hotel property in the world, when its entire setting is taken into consideration. It is more than wonderful and it is a treat to be able to get into it without being suspected of trying to steal something. Big stuff.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills and son, Schwab, of Boyles avenue, New Castle, and former neighbors of ours, called with their fur lined limosene and we took a ride to Fort Lauderdale. Here we saw Bert Garvin and his wife and two daughters, former New Castle citizens. We sure did have a great talk fest for a few hours.

On Thursday noon I attended the meeting of the Miami Rotary club at the Columbus hotel. There I met Mr. John H. Walters, of Johnstown, Pa., and president of the National Radiator Works. One of his big plants is in New Castle and being greatly enlarged at this time. I was very glad to meet Mr. Walters again, as quite a few of us New Castleites are stockholders in his wonderful company.

I attended a meeting of the Miami Chamber of Commerce at which a drive for four thousand new members was started. Over two hundred enthusiastic members were present. It was a great event in my young life to see such enthusiasm and so much different than I had been accustomed to seeing. I was also agreeably surprised at the consideration that was paid to a president of a Chamber of Commerce. This fine consideration being directed toward me made it doubly interesting. A president of a Chamber of Commerce is quite a prominent person according to the people here and I think the people of New Castle should also think more kindly of their president of the Chamber of Commerce. The big man in the Chamber of Commerce here is what is called "The Executive Vice President" and he does all the work instead of letting the president do it. It is a fine system. The president just sits and looks on and looks as wise as it is possible for a Chamber of Commerce president to look. Big Bill Edwards, of New York, made a speech. Those familiar with the history of New York and football will know that Big Bill is some potatoes. He weighs over three hundred pounds and sits most comfortably on a bench. He is a very smart man and made a great speech of a boosting nature.

There are quite a few boats, and some of them quite large, lying in the park in front of this hotel, being still there from the effects of the tornado.

The people here talk about something else than their own city once in a while. You do not hear any fugitives from justice yapping continually about what a great place Florida is and Miami in particular. All the people here are great boosters but they do not give one a pain by their incessant bleating about the climate and what a heluva a place California is. These people have suffered greatly and few here have not suffered, but they are together and are doing the very best they know how to bring Miami back and I am predicting right here they will do it in the next few years. The spirit is wonderful here. Everybody is trying to do something for the other fellow and such a condition is sure to make it better for all.

Coral Gables, to my mind, is all and more than is claimed for it in song and story. It is wonderful. The man who is responsible for it sold tomatoes raised on that ground less than ten years ago and I talked to a lady who told me she bought some of the tomatoes from him as he carried them about in a basket in Miami. The great university of Miami is being built at Coral Gables and our old friend, Bert Wells, formerly of The News, in New Castle, conducted the campaign last winter which raised ten million dollars to build this wonderful university.

The people have been hard hit here. Those who made a little money in real estate at first when the boom came put it all back in and some have it in yet and will have to wait until Miami comes back, which it will some day. In spite of the fact that some have every dollar they have in the world tied up, they are optimistic and are doing all they can to make things better here. I cannot see how they can lose with such a spirit. You hear no knocking. The bird who knocks here finds himself in the bay or they take him to the woods, and zip, you know.

A local merchant put a sign in his window here a few days ago which read: "Selling out, so I can go back north where men are men and rents are reasonable." The police had to put this bird into jail or he would have been mobbed. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

I noticed a great many cotton pickers on my way down here. They were all colored men and women.

Men and women dress here as they do in July in New Castle. I have noticed that some of the northern millionaires get a bit more wear out of their last year's straw hats by bringing them with them. There are some mighty bum looking straw hats seen here. Women seldom wear a wrap even in the evenings. It sure is summer time here.

On Thursday evening, February 10, we attended the Inter-City Ladies Night meeting honoring International President Harry H. Rogers and Mrs. Rogers, president of International Rotary in the grand room of the Miami Biltmore Country club at Coral Gables. The clubs participating were Miami, Key West, Homestead, Hollywood, West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale. It was some party and in additon to some fine singing and the speech of the president of Rotary International, there was a big banquet and dancing. It was some strut on the part of the Rotary clubs of southern Florida and also for the many visiting Rotarians from all over the country. Four hundred were present. Mr. and Mrs. McNamara of this city, attended this party with us.

On Friday while we were visiting with Capt. Joe Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Garvin of Fort Lauderdale, came in. We had a great time answering questions about old New Castle, as all of these people are still New Castleites at heart and have New Castle on their cars.

On Saturday we ran into Mr. and Mrs. Oles, formerly of New Castle, on the North Bay Country club golf links. The two former mayors of two famous cities had their pictures taken together. No remarks, please.

We people in the north have always been under the impression that the Everglades were a crocodile and alligator infested bog. This is not so. The Everglades have just been turned over to Florida by the Seminole Indians, after 100 years of bickerings. This land is more like a prarie, and is most wonderful soil. This soil is used for fertilizer and is hauled into the cities and when mixed with the sand makes a wonderful soil. The Everglades contain over three million acres and when the farmers get to working this wonderful soil enough vegetables will be raised to feed the nation. I did not attend the turning over ceremonies of the Indians in the Everglades, but I was given a copy of the speech made by the Seminole chief when he presented the land to the president of the Miami Chamber of Commerce. It is so good I think it should be read by New Castle people and it is as follows:—

Translation of Chief Tony Tommy's reply to President Lon Worth Crow.

To Chief Lon Worth Crow and His White-Faced Brothers:

The white man is the child of Destiny, but the red man is the child of Nature. Always my people have fitted into, but never have changed, the natural scheme of all created things. Ourselves we made at-one with the winds and the sky, the waters and the forest, the beasts and the birds. We took toll only to sustain life, and being content with things as we opened our eyes and found them, never was it in our hearts to alter and transform.

It was the white heron and the deer that lured us on and on to know the hidden wonders of these Everglades. The silent cypress depths gave us friendly and secure refuge in all our hours of need. The kindly water obliterated the trail of our canoes from all our enemies' eyes. The plenteous palmetto gave us a roof for shelter and shade. Fish and fowl and fat beast waited always to give us meat. In the hours of our leisure we scattered seeds and the kindly black soil gave us back more than we could use of corn and potatoes and bananas and rice. Life has been full and sweet in the tempered breezes of these Everglades.

But the Great Spirit has troubled our minds in these latter days and we have hearkened to the Voice. The child of Nature must allow the child of Destiny his way. Thus have we made our tribal peace with the White Father at Washington. Thus yield we willingly into your eager hands the mastery of the raven-black soil. Forseen by us and understood by us is the change that now will come when the white man has his way. Yours will be the triumph of winter corn and fruits without measure, and yours will be the responsibility for the change.. My people will watch your people in wonder, but the hearts of my people will be at peace. We are in the care of the Great Spirit. Our fate, like your fate, is in His hands.

We brought down with us about two dozen of apples raised, on W. E. Ferver's place, and gave them to former New Castle people. It was almost a riot to see them go after them. Northern apples are mighty scarce here and those who know what they are are mighty glad to get them and we knew that.

We had the pleasure, a few days ago, of meeting Rev. R. N. Merrill, who was for some years located in the Seventh Ward—not Mahoningtown—and had a nice visit with him. He has been here about fifteen years and is pastor of the First M. E. church, which is known as "The White Temple." We were mighty glad to see him.

The best part of this family and myself had our pictures in the Miami Herald this morning. It was a double column effort and was not a bad picture. Being a Chamber of Commerce president got us that free advertising.

Orrville Rigby, born and raised in New Castle, but for many years a resident of Florida, called on us Saturday afternoon. He is a plastering contractor and has made good here. His wife was Tena Trax of New Castle. Saturday evening Mrs. J. H. Hartland and daughter, Janet, and son, James, formerly of Boyles avenue, New Castle, called on us. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hartland's sister, Mrs. Harold Bird and daughter, Leah, who are visiting in this city for some weeks.

Mrs. W. J. Bennett, formerly Miss Myrtle Hughes of New Castle, called on us one day this week, as did her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lyman C. Hughes, also formerly of New Castle, and now located here.

We forgot to say when we spoke of Orrville Rigby, that his daughter, Ruth, who visited in New Castle for several weeks last summer also called on us at the McAllister hotel.

This is Sunday and we have had a great day. This morning Mr. and Mrs. John H. Waters of Johnstown, Pa., who are wintering here came for us and took us for a long drive and then to dinner at their hotel, the Nautilus, a most charming tavern by the sea on Miami Beach. Mr. Waters is president of the National Radiator Company, which has a wonderful plant in New Castle. We had a great day and when we got back to the McAllister hotel we found a note there from Laura M. Stevenson, of New Castle, who is also here. She said in the note she would call this evening. Mrs. Rentz also found a bunch of letters from manicurists and hair dressers who had seen her picture in the paper and were trying to get some business by the letter writing route. She had that kind of work done before she left home and it will have to last her until we get back so some New Castleite will get the work.

We are leaving in the morning for Cuba, where we will be for three or four days and we expect to have all the things we eat cold except the ice cream as things usually are in the tropics. We are going to see and not to eat. Don't take any flannel money, it shrinks.

Just as I was about to mail this letter Mr. and Mrs. David Hartland of Long avenue, and their son, Joseph and his wife, who have been here for some time, called on us and we had a great visit and there was much talk about good old New Castle. Joe Hartland sent quite a few letters to The News during the tornado.

First Act Of Prize Play Is Presented By School Students

February 13-20 is being observed generaly as National Drama week, with the purpose of encouraging an interest in better drama as a positive influence on the life of the day.

Miss Clara Hartsuff, directing the dramatic class of Senior High School, presented an interesting experiment in the production of the first act of "Craig's Wife", Pulitzer prize play, as a program in student assembly Thursday, February 17.

Any one who believes that young people are only interested in theatrical clap-trap would have had the surprise of his life in watching that audience. Needless to say, they appreciated the comedy which relieves a somewhat somber theme, but they also appreciated excellent acting of the seven members of the cast, and the tense situation in which the ruthlessness of Craig's wife reaches its height.

Norman Cotton as Craig, the unsuspecting husband whose individuality is slowly being crushed by the devastating selfishness of his wife, played the part admirably. Barbara Bratschie as Mrs. Craig attained a dramatic intensity unusual in an amateur performance, while Eleanore Hutchison as Miss Austen, Craig's aunt who has the courage to tell him the truth, carried a difficult part with charming poise.

Rosalind Ehrlich as Mrs. Frazier, the sentimental widow who loves roses and has a neighborly disposition, skillfully left her audience in doubt as to her motives.

Lucile Emery and Sylvia Martin as Mrs. Craig's servants were inimitable in their dissection of the character of their mistress. Their enunciation was exceptionally good and their comedy was achieved without any appearance of effort.

Charles Knobloch as Billy Birkmire, Craig's friend, had only a limited opportunity at the end of the act but played with his usual ease of manner.

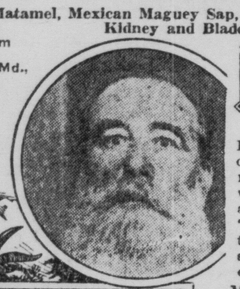

This play has been studied intensively by the entire cast. One member saw the New York production with Chrystal Herne in the leading role, while the others saw the same company in Pittsburgh in December, therefore they have had the opportunity to measure their attainments with those of professional performers.

"Craig's Wife" has not yet been released for amateur performance, and this production was given through special permission granted to Miss Hartsuff.

It is probable that a public performance will be given later.

Says Near Beer Is No Cure For American Thirst

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 18.—The burning thirst of average Americans cannot be quenched by near-beer and other soft drinks, in the opinion of officers of the John Hauck Brewing Company, which will cease operating here on March 3.

The John Hauck Brewing Company—which name was synonymous with good beer back in days before the Volstead act—once had a huge force of men working day and night in order to meet buyers' demands of more than 500,000 barrels of beer a year.

But, according to the officials of the company, production of "alleged beer or home brew" in private homes, combined with the fact that the near-beer business is not so good, has forced them to close their plant.

The local concern is a $1,000,000 corporation and in 1900 an offer of $6,000,000 was refused for the brewery, which was established in 1863.

A small number of clerks will be kept in the offices of the brewery to manage other business affairs and to await developments in Congress relative to the modification of the prohibition laws, it was said.

Pete, Grand Old Parrot Of England, Moulting

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Pete, London's oldest parrot, is becoming so bald that his owner has decided to have little jackets made for him to take the place of the long-lost feathers. Pete's owners can produce records which show that he is known to have existed in 1801, but the length of time he was on earth prior to that is mere speculation.

Pete is owned by Colonel W. B. Ferris of Philbeach Garden, S. W. London, who has had the bird 55 years. The records show Pete was captured by a British soldier in India 126 years ago after a battle between the English and forces of the Rajah of Satara, of which the parrot had been the tribal mascot.

Pete later became a pet of the Maharajah of Kolhapur, who in 1844 presented him to Colonel Ferris, former governor of Alden. Pete began to show bald spots in 1872, and now is devoid of all feathers on his breast and back, but still retains a lot of fine red tail feathers. The older Pete gets the more he talks, and as for his diet, he eats almost anything, particularly nuts, dates, bananas and other indigestibles from which centenarians usually refrain.

LIBERTY GRANGE TO PRESENT PLAY

Liberty Grange will this evening at the I. O. O. F. hall in Princeton present the play, "His Uncle's Niece", under the auspices of Fairview Grange. Indications are that a recordbreaking crowd will be in attendance at this play, which is said to be one of the best being presented under the auspices of the various Granges of the county during the present winter season.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS

Lebanon, Pa.—"A few years ago my kidneys and bladder were in such bad shape I never expected them to function properly again. For four months I was confined to my home quite unable to work. I could not sleep at night because of irregular kidney action, and the secretion burned like scalding water. During the four months I had three different doctors, but it was not until I began to take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets that I felt sure of getting better. I was soon back at my work again and though it was a long hard fight I am glad to say that I do not have the former distress, both kidneys and bladder are in a fine healthy condition."—John A. Bender, 518 Light Ave. (Picture above.)

Old Goldman Fire Shown In Winipeg

(International News Service)

WINIPEG, Man., Feb. 18.—The old fire which made Emma Goldman, famous anarchist, a blazing figure on the social and political trials of war days, is far from out. Emma demonstrated this adequately here recently at a public meeting when she directed a furious tongue-lashing at a man in the audience who asked her: "How much are you paid by capital for attacking Soviet Russia?"

The small but piercing eyes of the 57-year-old Emma almost blazed with fury as she denounced the questioner.

"Don't you think that is a childish question?" she shot out. Don't you think that if I were paid by the capitalist class for lecturing I would not have to speak in small halls and under all sorts of sordid circumstances? It shows the evil side in you when you make that charge because it proves you can be bought for money.

"Cannot you imagine", she continued, her voice rising with anger, "that a person who has gone to prison for participating in strikes, and who has been driven from country to country, is not the kind of person who would sell her soul for money?"

The well-known anarchist leader is visiting with friends here prior to revisiting Toronto and Montreal on her way back to her London home in March.

Britain Soon To Send Radiograms

(International News Service)

CHELMSFORD, Eng., Feb. 18.—Radio wires in your own writing will be the next scientific development, according to Right Hon. Frederick G. Kelleway, late Postmaster-General of Great Britian, now chairman of the Marconi Company.

"You write your telegram," says Kelleway, "place it in an instrument, and almost instantaneously it is reproduced in facsimile by wireless at the other side of the world.

"What we want in sending a message, is not for an operator to tap it ont on key, word by word, but for him to be able to lay it in apparatus which will transmit it as a whole at once.

"G. M. Wright, one of our engineers, is now at work on this apparatus. So far, his experiments during the past twelve months have been successful. We have only done it so far over a short distance, but distance makes no real difference."

He that has never known adversity is but half acquainted with himself or with others. Constant success shows us but one side of life.

CATARRH DESTROYS TENS OF THOUSANDS

So many people do not know how serious catarrh really is that they are astonished to find how easy victims they prove to influenza, pneumonia and other serious diseases.

Catarrh weakens the whole system. It eventually interferes with all bodily functions, and it leaves its victims easy marks for epidemics and serious illnesses. Here's a case reported by Harry J. Anderson, Lyon Ave., Rochester, Pa.

Cleared It All Up

"I neglected my catarrh until it began to affect my stomach seriously. Then one day I went home with a bad headache, which speedily developed into flu, and for six weeks I was in bed—a sick man. When I began to get around again, I couldn't regain my strength until I took your wonderful medicine, World's Tonic. I started on it just to build up strength, which it did, but I kept on taking it because it was helping my catarrh so much. A few bottles cleared up this condition, and I am now in better health than for ten years past."

Catarrh, besides being a nuisance to everybody you come in contact with, is a vicious enemy that is undermining your health and strength. World's Tonic is a great constitutional medicine, upbuilding strength and conquering catarrh. The thousands who have been wonderfully benefitted are your best proof that it will help you. Your Income Tax

Income Tax in a Nutshell:

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

NO. 29

Several salient facts are to be remembered by taxpayers in claiming deductions for taxes. Taxes on personal property and real estate, whether business or residential, are deductible. So-called taxes assessed against local benefits, such as street paving or drainage, which tend to increase the value of the property assessed are not deductible since they are considered as constituting the cost of a permanent improvement.

The federal income tax may not be deducted. However, income taxes imposed upon the income of individuals by states may be deducted by an individual on his federal income tax return.

The federal estate tax is deductible from the gross income of the estate of a decedent in process of administration in ascertaining net income of the estate subject to the tax.

Taxes are deductible as such only by the persons upon whom they are imposed. Thus, the excise taxes imposed upon the sales by manufacturer of automobile chassis and bodies and motorcycles are not deductible by the purchaser, even though such taxes are billed to him as separate items.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Import or tariff duties paid in the operation of a business are deductible as taxes, provided they are not added to or made a part of the expenses of the business or the cost of the merchandise with respect to which they are paid.

Admission taxes are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid during the year. Guesswork will not be accepted. Under the revenue act of 1926 the admission tax applies only to admissions in excess of 75 cents, while under the 1924 act it applied to admissions in excess of 50 cents.

London Builds $12,500,000 In Picture Houses

Movie Theaters To Have Dance Halls Attached; A New Feature

Big Banker Groups Take Interest In Amusement And Buy Shows

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 18.—More than $12,500,000 will be spent in constructing new motion picture houses in London, and reconstructing one or two old ones.

Additional 52,890 seats for movie fans will be provided before the end of the summer.

Some of these new houses will have dance halls attached. The majority will be provided with full facilities for the presentation of variety shows as well as pictures; most will have luxurious tea lounges and cafes.

The old type of motion picture house is out of business in London nowadays. Bankers and powerful syndicates have now taken his place. One big group of Stock Exchange men has just negotiated for the sale in block of 80 picture theatres scattered over the country. A London firm of merchant bankers, Ostrer Brothers, has just bought fifteen theatres belonging to the Biocolor circuit for $3,500,000.

Bankers Interested

This same firm of banker brothers have also, it is reported, been negotiating for the purchase of the Capitol Theatre, owned by Sir Walter Gibbons, who asked a price of $3,000,000. Famous Players-Lasky Company, which owns the wonderful new Plaza Theatre at Piccadilly Circus are also said to have been making a bid for this beautiful new building.

The day of the big motion picture theatre, seating 3,000 to 4,000 people has now definitely arrived in London. The best confirmation of this is that the London City Council, is issuing yearly licenses, have made it clear that the small movie show must go.

This governing body of London looks kindly on the big cinema in the suburbs, which, in its language, is becoming an "important communal rendezvous." In the big houses every modern requirement for safety can be carried out; many of the small older ones are incapable of being altered to modern conditions.

Large Capacities

Moreover with the increased cost of films, no house providing adequate pictures and decent music can be made to pay with a seating capacity of under 2,000.

The most interesting of the new building schemes is that of the New Empire Cinema, which is to be erected on the site of the famous old Empire Theatre in Leicester square. It will be financed by British and American money for the exploitation, chiefly, of the films made by the American Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation, which already controls the magnificent Tivoli theatre in the Strand.

The New Empire will be ready next Christmas and will accommodate 3,000 persons at a cost of $1,500,000. Within a year six other "super" theatres will also be opened in the West End area of London.

Offer Of Homes For Two Boys

Hogue Receives Number Of Offers To Provide Brothers With Homes

A choice of several good homes will likely be necessary for the two orphan boys mentioned in yesterday's issue of the News, for hardly had the issue been of the press when inquiries began to come into the office of M. B. Hogue, director of the welfare work of the county and some definite applications have already been made.

It is likely that several more applications will be made for placing them in a home in the country districts as most of the rural subscribers of the News do not get their copies until a day later than the citizens of the city.

Mr. Hogue says that he believes he will have no trouble in finding suitable homes for the boys as they are very nice young chaps and very bright as well as strong and healthy.

The boys have been orphans ever since the death of their mother in 1921, their father having died during the influenza epidemic nearly 10 years ago. Their home was formerly in Lawrence county and they are now being taken care of in the county home until suitable provision can be made in some private home.

Anyone desirous of seeing the boys or making any arrangements should get in touch with M. B. Hogue promptly. His address is 368 1-2 East Washington street and telephone number is 5185. His office hours are 9 to 11 a. m. and 3 to 5 p. m.

He said that the code had been prepared in accordance with a code committee of the department of commerce, insofar as conditions here are concerned.

Mr. Wise will go into conference with the local building code committee, upon which are representatives of different crafts.

American Tourists Go East In Europe

(International News Service)

VIENNA Feb. 18.—The trend of American tourists is eastward in Europe. The government reports of tourist traffic in Vienna for the last five years shows that Americans are coming here in increasing numbers every year. In the year just ended two and a half times as many Americans came to Vienna as in 1925 when the number was 135,-$60.

More tourists of other countries England and Germany foremost also came to Austria last year and the same is true of other Central European and Balkan countries, which are all preparing for increased traffic next year when they hope to take away the patronage of Western Europe now familiar ground to most sightseers.

Beginning with a great festival in celebration of the centenary of the death of Beethoven on March 26 Vienna will have an almost continuous run of attractions for tourists. A gigantic festival period is planned from July 5 to 19, the first to be held since the Republic was declared. This will be patterned after the famous festivals of Imperial times which did much to make the reputation of "gay Vienna." Several congresses, sport meetings and art conferences will be held during the year.

EDENBURG

Final Sunday services will be conducted by Rev. L. C. Howe in the Edenburg Christian church. The subject at the morning servive will be "Walter Scott, a Mighty Prophet of Modern Evangelism." In the evening the theme will be "The Greatest Question in the Bible."

At both the morning and evening services there will be special numbers by the large chorus choir. There will be a special Bible drill, and a reading by Bessie Hoffmeister; also a solo by Mrs. Pitzer of New Castle and a duet by Frank Hoffmeister and son. A quartet will sing a special number. Rev. Howe expects to leave the middle of next week for Indianapolis, Ind., where he will conduct an evangelistic campaign.

Council Buys Two Autos For Police

One Of Machines Selected Is Termed A "Used Car"

City Council today purchased two automobiles for the police department at a cost of $1,550 and the two cars now used by the police department.

Council awarded the bids to two firms, as follows:

Hall-Anderson, Studebaker, Big Six, touring car, $1,050, with the larger of the city owned Buick cars as a trade-in.

Barnes-Snyder, Studebaker Phaeton (a used car), $500, with the smaller of the city owned Buick cars as a trade-in.

A reservation was attached to the latter car and according to the "string" the "used car" must pass the test of the city mechanic.

Councilman William T. Burns refused to vote for the latter car.

Mayor William H. Dunlap recommended to council that the city buy the two cars.

Councilman Louis Genkinger offered a motion awarding the bids to Hall-Anderson and Barnes-Snyder.

The vote was unanimous excepting Burns' nay on the used car.

Letter Received About Exchange Of Courtesies

A letter has been received at the local headquarters of the Lawrence County chapter of the American Red Cross pertaining to an Exchange of courtesies between the Hungarian Red Cross and the American Red Cross. The letter is as follows:

Chapter Chairmen:

A reciprocal arrangement has now been perfected by which the members of the Hungarian Red Cross and the members of the American Red Cross might be given certain assistance while living or travelling in the United States of Hungary. The agreement, which has been executed by the officials of the two organizations, is as follows:

The Hungarian Red Cross and the American Red Cross agree that their own Central and Regional Committees will, on presentation of the membership card of any member of the sister society, help him by their advice in all questions of health and sanitation, and by their influence with governmental, local or private agencies, thus facilitating his residence in that country.

This mutual help between the National Red Cross Societies should on no account include financial assistance. For the one who gives and the one who receives, it should be an instance of the universal solidarity binding all Red Cross Societies together.

The Hungarian Red Cross will issue identification cards to all members of its Society travelling or residing in the United States. Chapter and Branch offices are requested to offer such courtesies and assistance as are consistent with the terms of agreement.

JAMES L. FIESER,
Acting Chairman.

Too Many Men Here; Women Are Upstage

By MARGERY REX
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—"I favor European women as against American women.

"American women have lost their femininity.

"We challenge men. That is foolish. I am old-fashioned enough to believe that we haven't as much.

"They have no compunction about making a matrimonial shift.

"Men should be more stern with them.

"Women here are getting too mannish. That will cause men to deteriorate. Letting men be the bosses makes better men.

"Would I marry—well, I'm hesitatin'" says Mary McCormick, American singer at the Paris opera.

Mary McCormick, the first American prima donna to get a contract with the Paris Opera has returned to America from a two months concert tour. This dazzling young Mary is a protege of "Our Mary" Garden. She has arrived with seven trunks full of epigrammatic Spring clothes and a sleek bobbed head full of stunning opinions—also springy. For instance:

"American women are too upstage with men. Because they can get so many. In Europe there is no oversupply of men.

"American women are too changeable. And what is the matter with men here?

"Gigolos., in Europe, make love marvelously to those women while the silly old American husbands are hard at work in the States. I don't believe in this sort of pastime.

"Yet, if we had one hundred women in this room this minute and took a vote, all who could afford it would want a gigolo. I know it."

Forty Billions In N. Y. Property Hang On Record In Old Bible

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 18. — A family Bible, containing the record of the descendants of John Allen Edwards, a sturdy colonist who in bygone days tilled the soil where now the proud skyscrapers of the city of New York tower into the sky, is the hope around which ninety-five persons in various portions of the United States will lay claim to a 160 acre tract in the heart of Gotham, now valued at $40,000,000,000. Nine persons of this city have agreed to co-operate with the 86 others in America to fight for their claim. They have organized the National Scotch Edwards Heirs Association, with headquarters at Louisville, Ky.

Seek Settlement

The members of this association, believing themselves direct descendants of the Manhattan pioneer, propose to seek a settlement with the present owners of the priceless property.

Louis Aldrich of this city owns the Bible, containing the "family tree." It was handed down to him by Robert, son of John Edwards. The claimants all are confident that the record proves their direct descent from the sturdy Manhattanite.

An important cog in the chain of the claimants is one Henry Landreth, for whom a widespread search is being made. No one has been found who can throw any light on his where abouts or where he last lived.

The Edwards heirs maintain that the Gotham tract was leased 104 years ago to an English syndicate for 100 years. On expiration of this lease four years ago, the claimants contend, the title to the property should have reverted back to the son of Edwards, who executed the lease, and his heirs and genealogical successors. Edward's son, who signed the deal, threw further complication into the deal by dying intestate.

Costly Litigation

A long and costly litigation is expected by the Edwards heirs and they are pooling their funds to meet the costs. They do not dispute the fact that before the huge buildings now occupying the tract were erected experts passed upon the title to the land and pronounced it perfect. They argue that the Statute of limitations will work against them.

Nevertheless they have faith in their claim and are willing to gamble the expenses of litigation against a hoped for fortune if their claims are upheld.

Fisher Not To Interfere With Service Board

Governor Says Public Service Commission Will Function Without Interruption

SIX APPLICATIONS GET NEW HEARINGS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 18.—During the present administration the Public Service Commission will function without interference from the chief executive, Governor John S. Fisher made it known today.

He expressed his future attitude on all public utility problems in connection with pending applications of power companies turned down early this year by former Governor Gifford Pinchot.

Six of the two score applications approved by the Public Service Commission but refused a charter by Pinchot are slated for new hearings before the commission next Thursday.

Despite the Commission's approval the charter applications were refused by Pinchot on the ground that their rates were excessive. Under the law there was no appeal from the former Governor's attitude during his administration.

The six applications slated for hearing are for subsidiaries of the Pennsylvania Power Company. All ask permission to operate in Lawrence county.

Four other such applications have been received by the Commission. They were made by subsidiaries of the Penn Public Service Company.

The applications are the Plumville Borough Public Service Company; New Washington Borough Clearfield Public Service Company; Smicksburg Borough Indiana Public Service Company and the Troutville Borough Clearfield Public Service Company. The Tentative date for the hearings of these cases is March 10.

Commenting on the applications the Governor said: "The Public Service Commission will perform its function without interference on the part of the executive."

Captain And Nine In Crew Rescued, Vessel Grounded

(International News Service)

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Feb. 18.—The captain and nine men were rescued today from the four masted schooner Cecil B. Stewart several hours after it had grounded near Barnegat inlet in a high running sea. The Stewart is of Rockland, Me., registry, and was bound from Savannah, Ga., to New York with a cargo.

Two trips by coast guardsmen were needed to get the crew off after the continuous blowing of the schooner's fog horn had attracted the attention of a beach lookout. The life-saving crew of Ship Bottom went out, and was nearly swamped several times before taking off four of the men. Two hours later the other five men and Captain Charles Fale were taken off by another crew.

The vessel shows signs of breaking up under the constant pounding of the heavy seas, and is expected to be a total loss. The Stewart is owned by Richard O. Elliott of Thomaston, Me.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Feb. 18.—Three coal barges with nine men and two women aboard were recovered by a tug and anchored off Five Fathom Lightship today after being adrift for hours in a raging sea.

Clarion Roars With "Gassers"

CLARION, Pa., Feb. 18.—The New Bethlehem district of Clarion county presents a busy aspect as the result of big gas and oil strikes. Bull-wheels, ropes, derricks and other equipment are unloaded daily and teams and trucks are rushing them to the newly developed field around Truittsburg and Pumptown. Employes of the Pennsylvania Fuel Supply Company are laying pipe lines and leases are taken up by prospectors swarming into the district.

The land under lease so far extends from Truittsburg to Pumptown. H. B. Truitt has leased 25 acres of his land at Truittsburg to J. A. Beam, and 55 acres to the People's Gas Company. J. A. Beam has leased the J. A. Baynham farm. The Appollo Gas Company has leased the Henry Minich and A. T. Truitt farms. The Acme Company, W. T. Houpt, has leased the Tom Brown farm, and the Pennsylvania Fuel Company has leased the F. W. Drayer, W. M. Drayer and the P. W. Minich farms.

J. A. Beam has brought in the third well on the J. A. Baynham farm. It started off at 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, the biggest wel lstruck so far. A 2,000,000-footer is on the Tom Brown lease, and other rigs are going up on the same lease. The Appollo Gas Company is ready to start the drill on the Henry Minich farm, and the People's Natural Gas Company is locating wells on the H. B. Truitt farm. E. C. Buffington is making ready to drill on the Evangelical church lot.

Lengel Mounts Witness Stand

Former Canton Police Chief Is Defense Witness In Rudner Trial Today

ACQUAINTED WITH RUDNER MANY YEARS

(International News Service)

CANTON, Ohio, Feb. 17.—S. A. Lengel, who was police chief of Canton, at the time of the Don R. Mellett murder, took the witness stand for the defense today in the trial of Ben Rudner, charged with plotting the killing of the Canton publisher and testified that he had known Rudner, for many years, but denied he was a close friend.

Concerning his activities directly after the slaying, Lengel stated that he was called from bed and immediately took the usual action, sending out detectives and notifying police to pick up all suspicious looking characters.

Asked if he had talked with Ben Rudner on July 15, the death of the murder, Lengel said he could not remember. He did remember, however, a conversation with Rudner on the morning of July 16, the day after the crime was committed, when Rudner introduced him to a man named Smith, he said.

On cross examination Prosecutor Harter asked Lengel if it wasn't a fact that he was in Rudner's store a day or so previous to the killing of Mellett. Answering in the negative, Lengel said that he was only in Rudner's store upon one occasion and that was after his suspension from the police force, when he passed through Massillon and dropped in for a short visit.

Fifteen hundred devotees of winter sports, both men and women, were accommodated at the Lake Placid Club in the Adirondacks over the New Year holiday.

Sir William Orpen Discovers Valuable Sargent Painting

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Described as the masterpiece of the famous American painter John Singer Sar- gent, a picture has just been bought by Sir William Orpen, Brit- ain's leading portrait painter, for $10,000. Orpen picked it up in a shabby frame in a Bond street deal- er's shop.

The picture is stated to have been painted by Sargent during his most impressionable period, at a time when he was turning out his finest work. It represents a poor Spanish peasant woman, whose identity will probably never be known, and the feature of the painting is the feeling of poignant suffering in every line of the brush.

Orpen has refused five times the amount he gave for the picture and says he would sooner part with his entire collection of pictures than this example of Sargent.

"The Mona Lisa", he says "is a piece of cheap clap-trap compared to this woman. If Sargent failed anywhere, his works some times, apart from their excellence of tone and technique, appeared rather cold and apart; but here we have a real woman, soul and body, love, motherhood and all one can de- sire, painted with intense feeling and love of the work. It must have been a labor of love, and to my mind the greatest picture the great master ever produced."

Hungary Will Prohibit Exiles Publishing Books

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Feb. 18.—The Hun- garian government will shortly pro- hibit all its political "emigres" from publishing newspaper articles or books within the country. The gov- ernment seeks to stop Hungarians who have been exiled, or who have lost their political rights, from publishing their works in the Mag- yar press.

There are about a hundred ex- iled Hungarians now publishing articles or books in Hungary from almost every capital in Europe, many unfairly attacking people and institutions, according to a state- ment. The order will be retroact- ive and therefore many books al- ready published will be confiscat- ed.

Trust Company Case Goes To The Jury

The case of the City Trust and Savings Company of Youngstown against J. R. Rich of Hillsville, which was taken up before Judge Hildebrand yesterday went to the jury about noon today. The case is one in which Rich is being sued for a balance of about $1000 due on a note on which he was an en- dorser. He refuses to pay on the grounds that he was an accommo- dation endorser and was not finan- cially interested.

At this distance it appears that Prince Carol feels the same keen interest in the throne that he would in a meal ticket.

The Baked Taste Tells

A baked potato tastes like nothing else but a baked potato. Same way with beans. Beans that are really baked taste like nothing else but baked beans. Slow, careful baking in the dry heat of real ovens imparts a distinctive baked flavor.

It is this distinctive baked flavor that makes Heinz Oven-Baked Beans taste so good. They are baked tender, baked mealy, baked golden brown, baked good to eat.

Heinz Beans are labeled "Oven-Baked" because they are baked in real ovens.

Palace Lodgings For Soviet Jail Prisoners Now

(International News Service)

LENINGRAD, Feb. 18.—A novel method of police control over criminals has been inaugurated here with the opening of an "Ex-convicts Palace." Once the residence of a prince, the place now offers refuge to all persons who have completed terms of imprisonment. Lodging for them are free.

The palace will accommodate 300 persons. Preference will be given to men and women who have commited serious crimes and have spent more than three years in prisons or penitentiaries, on the assumption that such criminals are least capable of resuming a normal life immediately.

The police also hope that this glorified night lodging will make it easier to keep a check on ex-convicts who otherwise are disposed to foregather in slums and dives not easily accesible to detectives.

Children who get the foods which satisfy their special needs grow—sleep—play normally

Mothers who are constantly with their children, often cannot judge whether certain physical changes are taking place normally, or not. The changes are so slight from day to day. But they are very important.

For normal growth, there are special needs which must be liberally provided for, authorities now declare.

One of the most important of these needs is for an abundance of protein. It is helpful to know how much real value certain foods have. Almost one-fourth of a child's daily need for protein is supplied by a cup of Mother's Oats with a cup of milk.

Vitamins are needed, too—and plenty of minerals, if physical development is to be perfect. These also are richly supplied by Mothers's Oats with milk. And energy materials, and bran.

For Mother's Oats is a natural whole-grain food. Its careful millers take pride in using only the cream of the oat crop each year, and then milling it in special ways to preserve all the natural health essentials. Because it is milled with such extra care, it is even-textured and fine—you can count on it always to cook up to the even smoothness that you like—always to have the same rich flavor.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, which bring you silverware, household conveniences, toys, etc.

Plan For Ship Railway Across Mexico To Haul World's Biggest Vessels

Railway When Completed Will Rival Panama Canal Route

Total Estimated Expenditure Said Near $175,000,000

BY OSCAR K. GOLL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A 'ship railway" across the entire span of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, in the southernmost part of Mexico, with sufficient capacity for hauling the largest of the world's present-day seagoing vessels, now is the dream of European capitalists, according to plans revealed here today in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

The program calling for the construction of this latest and most novel feat of engineering on the Western Hemisphere, which for the past three years has occupied the attention of some of the Old World's most brainest civil and mechanical engineering minds, hinges solely upon the final granting of a concession now under consideration by the Mexican government to bring about its realization.

According to Messrs. Rudolf Wassermann and Henrich Fastisch, eminent German scientific engineers, at one time associated with the late Hugo Stinnes of Germany, and who now are in New York enroute to Mexico City, the contemplated "ship railway" venture, when completed, will prove a keen competitor to the Panama Canal because its toll charges will be less in proportion to those now being charged for pasage through the Panama waterway.

Cost $175,000,000

"It is the contention of the scientific world," said Herr Wassermann, "that wherever a canal can be built to float a ship, a railroad can be constructed to carry one, and the present estimated cost to build the 'ship canal' across the Isthmus will be between 150 and 175 million dollars."

The plans as finally agreed upon by the European capitalists and which will be submitted to the Mexican government for its approval, call for an almost straight-away and level route lying between the town of Coatzaccalcos, at the mouth of the river by the same name, on the Bay of Campeachy, State of Veracruz, across the Isthmus a distance of about 117 miles, to the town of Huaxontlan, State of Oaxaca, on the Pacific coast.

Herr Wassermann said that the route of the proposed "ship railway" calls for but one bend across the entire stretch of the Isthmus and this at a point known as Chivela, in the State of Oaxaca, where a mammoth turn-table will be built to make the necessary bend in the direction of Huaxontlan in order to take advantage of a broad and level canyon through the Sierra Madres.

Thirty Rails Wide

Describing in detail the construction of the proposed "ship railway" Herr Wassermann said the right-of way will be built up on 30 rails spaced according to standard guage, while the specifications call for a grade of not more than 50 feet to the mile at each terminal. The trackage will submerge or descend into the water at these points thus enabling the ships to be lodged into a floating dry-dock or cradle for transportation across the isthmus.

"The wheeled cradle carriage or drydock," explained Herr Waserman, "will be built in sections or units, thus permitting easy adjustment of the keel blocks which can readily be arranged to accommodate the largest ships afloat.

The cradles can be drawn, by from six to fifteen heavy locomotives (depending upon the ship's tonnage) each one of which will be equivalent in hauling power to six of the ordinary freight type.

"Every known feature and angle has been given most careful study, even to the pressure of one-hundredth of an inch upon the cradle and roadbed when ships of various capacities are enroute from terminal to terminal," sand Herr Wasermann.

Out of Water Seven Hours

Herr Fastisch, who is a former artillery colonel of the Imperial German army, and who is credited with having had much to do with the perfection of the "Big Bertha" variety of cannon, told the International News Service that one of the ship loaded cradles can be transported across the Isthmus at the rate of 20 miles an hour, and that no vessel will be kept out of the water more than 7 hours at the most, it being figured that it will take almost an hour to make the necessary bend on the turn-table at Chivola, where the road will turn off in the direction of the Pacific terminal at Huaxontlan.

"The bar at the mouth of the river at Coatzaccalcos on the Gulf of Mexico will have to be dredged extensively to permit the vessels to get into the runway approaching the site of the eastern terminal," continued Herr Fastisch, "as also will be the case at Huaxontlan, where an artifical harbor will have to be dredged to carry the scheme to a successful conclusion. This latter feat alone will require an expenditure of from five to seven million dollars.

Catalina Island Has Picturesque History

Early Spanish Historian Tells Of Strange Temple That He Saw There

Long before Catalina Island displaced the English Channel as the objective of distance swimmers it had a picturesque history, says the New York Times Magazine.

It lies in the Pacific, about twenty miles from San Pedro, Cal.

Rodriguez Cabrillo a Portuguese navigator, was the first white man to set foot on Catalina. He named the place San Salvador, after one of his ships. Before he had a chance to explore it, however, he died on another island in the Santa Barbara Channel. Sixty years later Philip III of Spain sent out an expedition under Sebastian Vizcanio and the island was rediscovered. Vizcanio called it Santa Catalina, and his ship remained in the harbor several months.

According to Padre Torquemada, who accompanied the expedition as historian, the island had been inhabited many centuries. In his records he repeatedly refers to large towns and numerous rancherias. He also describes an immense circular temple decorated with feathers, bearing on its walls pictures of the sun and moon, and housing a gigantic idol. He saw alters on which many birds were sacrificed daily—only ravens being exempt—for these birds were regarded with great veneration by the natives and were so tame that they would eat from the hand.

The Spaniards were warned that ravens were sacred and must not be molested. This bird is still found on Catalina. Great numbers of ravens walk in the roads and hop about the beach and perch on roofs and fences.

Something is going to happen to you Today

BEFORE you reach home tonight you are going to do a very little thing—a seemingly most unimportant thing—but it will have a surprising influence.

How do we know all this, you ask? It's one of the inevitable laws of human nature. Every man tends inevitably to be moulded by those with whom he associates. Stay always with commonplace people and you stay commonplace. Step up into the society of thinkers, achievers, inspirers, and you are lifted in spite of yourself.

You're going to spend a few hours with The American Magazine today. A small decision. A 25 cents decision. But a big decision in influence.

FOR IT MEANS a half hour with Will Durant, that marvelous man whose "Story of Philosophy" is sweeping the country at $5 a volume. In your half hour with him, Will Durant is going to introduce you to the ten greatest thinkers of all time. Just an introduction. But enough to have its effect on you—to show you what makes the difference between big thinking and small thinking.

You're going to be with a woman who is the mother of eleven children, the head of a successful business and the author of half a dozen books. A woman who discovered a secret for organizing time, so that one of her hours does more work than two of them used to do. What a difference that secret can mean to you!

You are going—but we mustn't tell you all. The important fact is this—no matter where your day may be spent, you can spend your evening with great people, in high and entertaining discourse, on subjects that mean more power and influence and strength for you.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE offers anything like this. No other magazine leaves you with the same feeling—the bigger, finer feeling that your lungs are breathing deeper. That you have strengthened your purposes and weakened your fetters and enlarged the measure of your LIFE.

Men Digging On Beach Uncover Ancient Ship

Craft Is Believed To Have Been Lost With All Hands In

The sea is forever throwing up something. Day after day it strews the beach and rocks with all kinds of articles: oars, planks and other odds and ends of wreckage, hats off and overboard by the wind, bottles containing faked and genuine messages (generally the former) the carcasses of queer fish, and, saddest of all, not infrequently the remains of human beings, says a writer in T. P.'s Weekly, London.

Among the most mysterious of sea findings was that at Bulversithe near Dover. One day during the last century some workmen digging in the sands came upon what appeared to be a good-sized piece of timber. Believing it to be wreckage of some sort, which, washed in by an unusually high tide, had for some reason become embedded, they went on digging to extricate it; and presently, to their astonishment, found it was part of the side of a seemingly entire vessel. They then procured asistance, and after several days a complete ship was laid bare. Apparently there was nothing wrong with her, and from her quaint oldworld and foreign build it was thought that possibly she was the Old Amsterdam, a large Dutch vessel supposed to have gone down with all hands in mid-ocean in the year 1747. But if this were so, what became of her crew was a mystery indeed

Another curious case of a finding on the seashore ocurred in the early part of the last century. During a terrific storm that raged over the whole of the East Coast of Scotland the inhabitants of Castle Ardoch, which is situated between Tarbat and Fortrose, were thrilled at hearing the sudden boom of a gun out at sea. Without a moment's delay, Adam Gordon, the occupant of the castle, summoned his servants, and together they battled their way through wind and rain to the shore, where their humane intentions were rewarded by the finding of a live and beautiful baby in a cot that was lying half in and half out of the water on the rocks. It was the sole survivor of the wreckage of a large unknown ship, and there was no clue as to its identity saving two initials woven in various corners of its garments. Mr. Gordon adopted the child, and it grew up a beautiful girl.

Speech Defect May Be True Character Index

Woman Psychology Professor Cites Cases To Prove Her Contention

Lisping and stammering are no longer thought "cute," and in this day and age they may prove to be fatal economic and social handicaps in the opinion of Dr. Sarah M. Stinchfield, profesor of psychology at Mt. Holyoke College. Professor Stinchfield has made a four-year study of the problem of speech defect in college students at Mt. Holyoke, and finds in addition that they are symptoms of serious character defects as well.

"Girls with speech defects rarely become leaders to college activities or rise to the top in scholarship or in creative work," Professor Stinchfield said. "While some of the girls who lisp and stutter do have superior endowments, most of them fall into classes whose scholarship is low. They almost never belong to honor societies in college and in the future they are apt to be seriously handicapped in the business or professional worlds."

Unsettled home conditions, domineering parents and feelings of inferiority in the home because of an older brother or sister who is more brilliant are often to blame for emotional instability, Prof. Stinchfield explained. Unlike the case of adolescent boys, sex problems are not as a rule at the root of the evil in girls. Deep-seated feelings of inferiority caused in the home or in school are at the bottom of the inability of children to express themselves easily, it is believed. Home life or school life or both may be to blame. Professor Stinchfield says, and the cause should be sought out and attention directed to correcting the defect.—Ohio State Journal.

Plan Hospital At County Home

Will Be Added At Mercer County Institution In Near Future

OTHER NEWS NOTES OF MERCER COUNTY

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 18.— All necessary formalities for the erection of a chronic sick hospital at the Mercer County Home have been concluded by the Welfare Department of the state is the announcement today of T. C. White Superintendent of the home who is asking a 40 bed institution built on the most simple lines for the care of the many cases of chronic ailment that are being brought with greater number to the home each year.

The hospital has been approved by three Grand Juries. The plan would be to erect a building to which additions can be constructed with little additional cost. It is estimated that the cost of the hospital would be about $60,000. It will be constructed conveniently adjacent to the present buildings that it may be heated from the power plant on the grounds.

Gas from the three wells of the Mill Run Oil and Gas Company in Springfied township was turned into the mains of the Mercer Gas Company Thursday. The turning in of the fuel completes the laying of four miles of pipe line from the field of the company contracted by J. W. Byers. The gas is bought by the United Natural Gas Company who have a contract for the supply of the patrons of the Mercer company. The company have three wells now on their 1,000 acre lease in this township making 700,000 feet daily stated to be more than enough for the supply of the town.

For the present no more wells will be drilled on the lease. A well on the Orr, Christley and Bluemshine farms have already been drilled by Nelson Hovis local contractor. The territory is believed from the pioneering already done to be rich in production. As more wells are needed they will be drilled.

Bags for the shipment of the pool of 86,000 pounds of wool of the Mercer County Sheep Growers Association bought by the Rosenthal Brothers of Boston have been shipped by express to Mercer. Packing of the pool will start at once on their arrival under the supervision of Farm Agent W. S. Hagar states that official today. No time will be lost in shipping the wool as the late sale makes its prompt disposal desirable.

To date but 40 county business concerns have made returns to the office of the County Treasurer of their 1927 mercantile tax. The 1926 license fee is payable to the date of May 1. Delay in the returns may be expected this year due to the appointment of the appraiser Mrs. Elizabeth Starkey of Sharon in January with the customary time of appointment being in December to enable the officials to start the first of the year.

Weather conditions for the month of February are without paralell in county history state old timers. The month is generally the most severe in winter weather of any during the season. Local prophets are at loss to account for the condition but are confident that the spring like condition of the month so far will be followed by more cold weather.

A drop in number of applicants from 125 to a dozen contrasts the summer and winter classes of automobile drivers that are examined here by the state highway police. The date for examination is that of Wednesday. During the summer months a group of four officers are kept busy all day testing the efficiency of the applicants as car drivers. The number is concrete of the interest that is taken is driving during the winter months.

Ben Volo the 24 trotter owned by a group of Mercer men has been turned over to Walter Johnson well known trainer of harness horses located at New Castle.

The horse is stated to be in the best condition of years and a successful season of racing next summer and fall is anticipated. Incapacitared last season due to a muscle condition the rest of one season is expected to be of great benefit in the results of this year. Johnson will have two Mercer horses in his string this year the other being Worthy Lord owned by Fred Sporry whose pacing record of last season is well known.

Mercer friends of Dr. Martha McBride of Zanesville, O., will regret to learn of her recent injury of a broken right wrist and bruises as the result of being struck by an auto.

Bill Introduced In Legislature To Provide For This Step—Capital News

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 18. — Public schools would be required to hold fire drill at least once a week under the provisions of a bill introduced in the house of representatives by Rep. Edward L. Weikert, of Adams county.

With the appointment of A. NevinDetrich as personnel secretary in the Fisher administration announced, the reorganization of the staff in Gov. Fisher's office is expected soon. Direction of the personnel bureau at present is under the secretary of the commonwealth with Miss Katherine Breidenfield, of Philadelphia, in charge. By placing Detrich in charge of personnel as an administration secretary, Governor Fisher will be relieved of the detail of seeing numerous applicants for jobs. A. Boyd Hamilton, Fisher's private secretary, will have charge of the administrative activities and Arthur P. Townsend will be budget director, thus giving Governor Fisher three advising and executive secretaries.

Rep. W. Albertson Haines, of Bucks county, has introduced a bill in the present legislature to appropriate $355,000 to pay a deficiency in the fund to pay for cattle killed in the eradication of tuberculosis.

Hunting licenses for non-residents of the state would be advanced from $15 to $25 under the provisions of a bill introduced in the house of representatives by Albert B. Davidson, of Allegheny.

Contrary to reports Einar Barfod, former state insurance commissioner, will have no connection with the insurance department under the Fisher administration. Barfod will continue his residence in Harrisburg, it is understood, although he will be engaged in some important investigation work in Philadelphia.

The house appropriations committee is determined to keep the grants to state hospitals and institutions within the budget limits, according to Rep. C. J. McBride, of Allegheny. The budget for the next biennium fixed $5,000,000 as the amount for hospitals.

Find New Metal Harder Than Steel

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A new metal known as solium and composed of oxides, earths and metals has been perfected by Thomas D. Kelley a London chemist and civil engineer.

Kelley claims that the new material can be made harder than steel or as soft as lead; that there is no degree of malleability to which it may be reduced; and that there is no purpose whatever for which platinum is used which solium will not serve equally as well.

Solium, says Kelley is absolutely impervious to hydrogen and does not get ref hot in contact with hydrogen as in the case of platinum.

Kelley's discovery of solium has led to the discovery of another new metal called rustless iron which is as malelable as brass—and also cheaper and stronger.

Solium is much cheaper than platinum and a company has been formed to exploit it.

Medical Society Certified Milk On Market Soon

Milk Commission Chairman Dr. Womer Says Plans Are About Completed

Milk certified by the Lawrence County Medical Society will be on the market in New Castle about the first of March according to statement by the chairman of the Lawrence County Milk Commission, Dr. W. A. Womer.

Dr. Taylor of Pulaski who has a dairy there proposed to the Lawrence County Medical Society that they begin the certification of milk and agreed to pay all expenses connected with the same in connection with his dairy, and to encourage other dairies of the county that might be interested in producing certified milk. As the movement grows among other dairies the expense is to be shared by those participating.

At a meeting last month the Lawrence County Medical society decided to go into the proposition and appointed a milk commission of which Dr. W. A. Womer is chairman. Other members are, Dr. E. U. Snyder, Dr. W. L. Steen, Dr. E. Kaplan and Dr. L. W. Grossman.

Under the direction of this commission the cows of Dr. Taylor's dairy were inspected Tuesday and other regulations are being carried out so that starting with the first of next month this dairy will sell milk in New Castle which will be certified by the Lawrence County Medical Society. Dr. Taylor thinks that he will be able to put certified milk on the market at 20c a quart although it is as high as 25c and 35c in such places as Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

Dr. Womern says that certified milk means that the Medical Society by inspection at regular intervals see that certain regulations for a purer and safer milk are carried out. These regulations include barns of proper sanitary conditions, employes of the dairy dressed and attending the cows in a sanitary way, regular bacteriological examination of the milk, installation of proper cooling, sterilization and bottling equipment, and testing of the cattle for tuberculosis and other diseases.

Certified milk will bear caps in the bottle stating that the milk is certified by the Lawrence County Medical Society. Thus milk produced and cared for under these more sanitary conditions makes a much safer milk especially for babies, and invalids needing safe milk.

Yet Dr. Womer wishes to state that certification by the medical society does not guarantee a milk entirely, for there is a possibility that such milk might become contaminated as other milk even with all this extra care. Nevertheless the chances of certified milk being safe is many times more than that with which not near the care is taken.

Vienna Plans Subway Garage

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Feb. 18. — A gigantic subterranean garage to hold 500 autos to be built under the Opern Ring, the city's most famous thoroughfare, is planned by the municipal engineers. Because it was compactly built before there were motor cars, Vienna has no place to house them and anyone living in the center of the city must go several miles for his car.

The new garage will be rented to those living within the center district, and if the city makes a profit, more will be built in other districts.

It is also planned to build a subway entrance for autos to the opera house in connection with the garage, which would relieve the congestion on the Ring when long lines of machines are waiting to drive to the playhouse.

Poultry Raisers Aided By State McCulloch Shows

According to H. R. McCullouch, of the Lawrence County Agriculture Association, poultry and egg producers, to the extent of 24,064, were assisted in 1926 by the poultry extension service of the Pennsylvania State College, the annual report of H. D. Munroe, in charge of this phase of educational work, shows. During 1913-14, the first year of poultry extension activities, only 4,893 people were reached.

Steady progress in the egg production of flocks on demonstration farms has been noted. Five years ago 56 complete records showed an average of 120.2 eggs per bird. Records on 62,000 hens during the past year reveal 148 eggs as the annual contribution of each layer. The increase indicates the results of better feeding and management as demonstrated by the extension specialists.

Culling the poultry flock has now become a common practice throughout the state. In the six years, from 1918 to 1924, when special attention was paid this project by extension workers the number of culls decreased from 34 to 11 per cent of all birds examined.

Oxford Forms Dancing Club

(International News Service)

OXFORD, Eng., Feb. 18.—Oxford, oldest and most conservative of English universities, has taken a sudden leap into modernity. It has formed a dance club, and shortly the first dance for undergrads of both sexes will be held with full sanction of the powers that be.

Hitherto the rules of the University have strictly prohibited undergrads from attending dances in a public place, and students found so doing have been severely reprimanded.

For some time men and women students complained that the segregation of sexes was being carried too far, and in answer to this a number of the younger masters and their wives have now formed the dance club as an experiment.

Every dance will be rigidly chaperoned, however.

Children's Sore Throat

Mothers know that children's sore throats are serious, often leading to tonsilitis, scarlet fever or diphtheria. Also that it is hard to treat because the usual remedy is a gargle and children can not gargle.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine works on new principle—goes direct to the cause not reached by gargles and patent medicines and brings relief within 15 minutes or money back.

And the remarkable thing about it is it contains no iron, chloroform or dope—harmless and safe, pleasant taste. Remember, relief within 15 minutes or money back. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. Love & Megown, Terminal Drug Store and all other good drug stores.

Presents Old Records To Show That George Washington Made Trip Through Lawrence County

(Written By Prof. A. K. Thompson of Ellwood City)

Much has been said concerning the famous trip made by the Father of our country through what is now the northwestern part of Pennsylvania, and as many believe through this very community.

As early as 1740 traders from Pennsylvania and Virginia had crossed the Allegheny mountains, were frequenting the banks of the Beaver, Muskingum and other tributaries of the Ohio. At the same time the French explorers had pushed their way across the divide from Lake Erie, and were entering into the Allegheny valley. Again others of the same nation had ascended the Ohio from their settlements on the Mississippi, and had recrossed the divide into the St. Lawrence valley. By the year 1749 English traders and French explorers had not only crossed each others paths in the great Ohio valley, but had met in hostile conflict.

The charter of Pennsylvania did not call for much territory west of the Allegheny mountains, also her Quaker government forbade her taking a hostile attitude towards either the French or the Indians. Hence Pennsylvania made no claims nor took an active part in the events leading to the opening conflict for the supremacy of the Ohio valley. This conflict resulted in the mastery of the English race on this continent.

France based her claims on exploration and discovery. The western limits of Virginia as defined in her charter called for "From a sea to sea, west and northwest". Virginia based her claims to the Ohio valley on her charter and actual settlement.

France was the first to recognize the strategic importance of that narrow strip of land lying in northwestern Pennsylvania, between the Ohio river and the southern shore of Lake Erie. Across this narrow strip nine tenths of the east and west traffic of the United States now moves. From 1750 to 1753 the French constructed three forts, Presque Isle (Erie) Le Boeuf (Waterford Erie County) and Venango (Franklin). the following year 1754 they erected Fort Duquesne (Pittsburgh). It was the intention to erect another at the mouth of the Beaver and continue with others at important points down the Ohio.

However the plans of the French were sadly interferred with by Governor Dinwiddy of Virginia. It was he who sent Washington to notify the French to leave. Washington was instructed to visit the Indian chiefs of this section, gain them as allies if possible, carefully note the French forces, deliver his letters to the French commander, secure his reply and return as quickly as possible. Washington in company with Christopher Gist, experienced frontiersman, Barnaby Currin, and John MacQuire. Indian traders Henry Stewart and William Jenkins, servitors John Davidson, Indian interpreter and Jacob Van Braam, French interpreter, left the settlements at Willis creek (Cumberland, Md.) November 14, 1753. The company arrived at Loggstown (Ambridge, Beaver Co.) on November 24 and remained there until November 30. During this time the important Indians from the section were called in and several councils were held.

When Washington inquired from the Indian half king about the ways and distance to the French forts, he received the following information according to the journal kept by Washington.

"He told me that the nearest and levelest way was now impassable, by reason of many large mirey swamps, that we must be obliged to go by Vanango and should not get to the nearest fort under five or six night's sleep, good traveling."

From Washington's journal we have the following concerning the trip up. "November 30, we set out about 9 o'clock with the half king (Scarooyady) Keskakaki, White Thunder and the Hunter (Guyasuta) and traveled on the road to Venango, (Franklin) where we arrived December 4, without anything remarkable happening but a continued series of bad weather. This is an old Indian town situated at the mouth of French Creek on the Ohio (Allegheny), and is North about 60 miles from Loggstown, (Ambridge, Beaver County), but more than 70 the way we were obliged to go."

From the above it is easily seen that the route followed by Washington and his followers was not the near and direct trail that led from the present site of Ambridge, north through Zelienople, Portersville, and on northward to the present site of Franklin. The above trail was not well known and extensively used by the Indians and traders, but on acount of the extensive rains nad mirey conditions we can see that this was not the route followed by Washington on the way up. On the return he seems to have followed this route. Then what route did Washington take?

There were few trails that led through the dense wilderness. Such a large company with pack animals and baggage could hardly think of leaving the beaten path, especially when the distance was covered in such a short time.

We are fortunate that Christopher Gist also kept a journal of the trip. His account of the road is much fuller in detail than that of Washington. The following is taken from Darlington journal of Christopher Gist.

"Friday, November 30. We set out from Loggstown, Ambridge, County, the half king, two old men and one young warrior with us. At night we encamped at Murtheringtown about fifteen miles away on the branch of Great Beaver Creek. Had some corn and fried meat.

Saturday, December 1, set out at night, encamped at the crossing of Beaver Creek from the Kaskukies to Venango about 30 miles. The next day, rain, our Indians went out hunting and killed two bucks. Had rained all day.

Monday, December 3. We set out and traveled all day. Encamped at night on one of the head branches of the Great Beaver Creek, about 22 miles.

Tuesday, December 4. Set out about 15 miles to the town of Venango where we were kindly received by Monsieur Joncaire the Frensh interpreter for the six nations."

In Darlington's book of Gist's journals there is a map of Western Pennsylvania dated 1753 and showing the route followed by Washington and Gist on their road to Venango. The original is in the British Museum. This map must have been the work of either Washington or Gist. The route is marked starting from Loggstown, following down the right bank of the Ohio to Mingotown (Rochester, Beaver County) then continues north some distance east of the Beaver river, and crossing the branch of the Beaver (according to Gist on the return trip, southeast branch). From the above facts it would seem that Mutheringstown must have been in the Northeastern part of Beaver County between the village of North Sewickley and Zelienople, Butler County, and along the Connoquenessing Creek. This map also shows Cusauscatown (intended for Kuskuski) between the main forks of the Beaver river. This would be between the Mahoning and Shenango rivers in the present Seventh ward, New Castle. The crossing of the Beaver river that Gist mentions must have been very near the center of New Castle. The route is shown on up somewhat east of the main branch of the Beaver Creek which would be the Shenango river. It would appear from this that Washington and his party spent the whole day, Sunday, December 2, 1753, on the present site of the city of New Castle. The encampment on Monday, December 3, on one of the head branches of Great Beaver would appear to be near the Big Bend of the Shenango in Mercer County.

Among Washington's men was Barnaby Currin. He had been a trader at Kuskuski (near New Castle) as early as 1749 and consequently would be well acquainted with the trails of this section. (Hanna Wilderness Trail Vol. 2, Page 330).

John Davidson, Washington's Indian interpreter, was another trader well acquainted with the Indian trails around Kuskuskies (Indian villages in Lawrence County and Mahoning, Shenango and Beaver rivers). He furnished information for the Lewis Evans map of 1755. This map shows Kuskuski at the conflict of the Shenango and Mahoning rivers on the east side of the Shenango. The trail leads from this point along the east side of the Shenago river, to "Shaningo's T", present site of Wheatland or near there, and the distance is shown as 20 miles. (Hanna Wilderness Trail Vol. 2 Page 144).

Thomas Hutchins map of 1764 and his description of the Indian trails westward of the Ohio river shows Kuskuksi at the mouth of the Mahoning and on the west side of that river. The trail leads from this point up the east fork of the Beaver (Shenango) and on the west side of the same to Shaningo Town.

The explanation for the various locations of Kuskuski is that there were several towns inhabited by Kuskuskians and that these towns were easily shifted from one suitable loaction to another along the banks of the Beaver and its tributaries.

Another trail of great importance lead from Kuskuski southeast to the Connoquenessing thence east towards the present site of Butler and on to Kittanning. This trail is mentioned in the journal of of Post and also in the narratives of Indian captives,a portion of this trail is shown in the atlas of Lawrence county, Wayne township. This survey was made in 1793-94.

According to tradition from old inhabitants of Wayne township, this trail entered Lawrence county near what is known as Knox Stop on the Harmony route, coming from the direction of North Sewickly. It seems that all evidence at hand points to this as the route followed by Washington on his famous trip to the French forts in 1753. So let us follow his course through what is now Lawrence County.

The trail crossed the Connequenessing creek some rods northeast of the Harmony route bridge and about the "Falls of the Connequenessing" crossed the old country club grounds and recrossed the Connoquenessing about half mile below the mouth of Slippery Rock creek at what used to be called "The Broad Ford". The trail that led around the brow of the hill and continued northwest crossing the New Castle-Ellwood City road, just north of where this road crossed Duck Run. The trail then followed the road leading in a general direction toward Chewton, but keeping in a northerly direction through Taylor township. Then following the east side of the Shenango river, the route would extend through the center of the present city of New Castle. The course would no doubt pass near the Diamond and up north Jefferson street and out the Pulaski road (Early road nearly always followed the Indian trails). This would bring the route near Pulaski and would meet the New Wilmington-Greenville road south of West Middlesex, following this road to a point some distance south of Hickory corners, here the trail leading from Shaningo Town to Venango and that leading from Kuskuski in the general direction of Erie crossed. Washington and his party would take the trail leading east and pass near the big bend of the Shenango river and on the east to Venango.

Spain Will Follow British Income Tax

(International News Service)

MADRID, Feb. 18.—The greatest fiscal reform in Spain for the past 80 years is to take the form of an income tax mainly on British lines.

In effect a wide-spread and comprehensive measure of direct taxation is to take the place of an old, complicated and faulty system. The last important reform of direct taxation in Spain occurred in 1845.

The main sources of direct taxation in Spain hitherto have been the imposts of various forms of production, such as the Industrial and Commercial taxes, the Territorial tax (urban and rural), the Mining tax and the impost on Celdulas Personales—Identity Cards, All these are to be repealed.

Other taxes are to be abolished at a later date. The tax on road and river transport will be abolished at the end of the first year, the tax on sea and frontier transport at the end of the second year and the tax on the consumption of gas, electricity and carbide of calcium at the end of the third year after reform goes into operation.

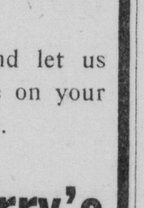

The new income tax will be graded acording to total income and also according to the sources from which the income is derived. This will mean that unearned incomes will be taxed much heavier than earned incomes, but the maximum rate is unlikely to exceed 10 per cent.

Tax exemption will be granted on incomes not exceeding about 3,000 pesetas (about $500) per annum. Allowances will be made for children and also for married persons.

So rapid is the growth of the eucalyptus, or blue-gum tree, that a great forest may be formed in 20 years.

OUR JUNIOR CITIZENS

By Education Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs

Feb. 10, 1927.

Education Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs

My dear Education Committee:

I am pleased to transmit herewith a statement of the guidance program at North Street prepared by the director of this work. I might add that pupils need to be guided in the full time job of going to school before they can be successfully guided in going to work. Dr. J. M. Brewer, professor of education and head of the bureau of vocational guidance at Harvard University, says that the job of being a good student merges with the job of earning a living. Junior and senior high school pupils should have an opportunity to see what the different phases of knowledge are like, to look around the educational landscape and try themselves out in different field of endeavor. They should know something not only of commercial occupations in trading and clerical service, but of agriculture, industry and the professions. Student activities also teach human relationships and management of enterprises.

"In addition to educational and vocational try-outs, every child should get a survey of the purposes and opportunities for education afforded by his community. Such information should go to all, not to individuals of voluntary groups.

"Along with technical knowledge should go social understanding of occupational problems and relations. Out of 3750 cases of discharge from jobs, quarreling or failure in human relationships was listed as chief cause."

A guidance program, according to Dr. Brewer, should begin in the elementary grades with visiting teachers. In the junior high school there must be special courses, discussions and assignments. Guide books are not enough. Counselor-teachers should be supplied to junior and senior high schools, each one having but one class a day and not more than five hundred pupils to guide.

"Guidance means more than bread-and-butter advice," says Dr. Brewer. "It develops standards of excellence in performance as well as knowledge and skill. In a few years, schools will save the salaries of their counselors by stopping failures at the source and preventing waste of instruction in mistaken electives."

We feel that the program as started here has possibilities of development along reasonable and profitable lines and with the addition of the shops in the new junior high school, we shall be able to expose children to a course which will bring satisfaction to them and to their parents.

Guidance in the schools of New Castle is just beginning. We shall progress slowly but sanely and effectively.

Yours truly,
B. K. THACKER.

GUIDANCE IN NORTH STREET JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL
Mr. E. O. Delancy, Guidance Counselor.

North Street Junior High School has a definite guidance program. Whether guidance is essential in junior high schools has long since been settled. Those familiar with this type of school organization, consider guidance to be its outstanding characteristic. The Junior High School pupil might well take as his motto "Know thyself." His is a school where the pupil may explore. There he discovers his interests and abilities. But many junior high pupils are too young and inexperienced to make such discoveries unaided. They might easily believe they had discovered abilities and interests which they do not possess. They likely would fail to discover some which they do possess.

Since one's occupational life should be based on his abilities and interests, and because junior high pupils usually do not know themselves, it devolves upon the school to assist them.

North Street Junior High School has no idle curiosity in its pupils' abilities and interests. Its only purpose is to serve the pupil, the parents, and the city. One of its teachers devotes his entire time to guidance, hence he is called the counselor. His work is limited at the present time to the 9th grade, because it is the most mature grade in the school and also because such pupils will enter senior high school the following year, where important educational choices must be made. The counselor teaches all ninth graders a course called vocational civics. It begins with a consideration of such topics as: School as an Occupation, Steps to Success, How workers use school studies, How to study occupations, and how to discover interests and abilities. This is followed by a study of some important occupation, as: Agriculture, mining, manufacturing, machine trades, transportation, clerical occupations, the learned professions and home making. The course ends with a study of vocational adjustment. The purpose of this study is not to teach any occupation, but to have students think about the various occupational opportunities.

Individual problems are revealed through class discussions. The counselor meets different pupils individually at certain periods every school day to discuss with them their occupational ambitions. He applies psychological tests to the child to determine scientifically his abilities and interests. He examines the child's scholastic and health records also. The counselor does not choose an occupation for the child, nor does he encourage a choice. Rather, his advice always is to delay a choice as long as possible, and to obtain all the education possible before beginning work. He emphasizes that an occupation should be chosen with service to society as the basic consideration, and with personal satisfaction and remuneration as important secondary considerations.

This conference often is followed by a visit to the home, where the parents' co-operation is enlisted in helping their child to become a happy and useful member of society.

By devoting ourselves to the service of others we discover the door which opens wide the door to happiness.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused By Acid Indigestion.

Gas in the stomach accompanied by the full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion".

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful or four tablets in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never in liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Britain To Insist On Home Made Films

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—No agreement has yet been reached between the Board of Trade and the film business regarding the compulsory quota of British films which the forthcoming Government Bill will insist on being included in every program shown in Britain.

There is no diffefence in principle, but purely on amount. The trade originally asked for a 12½ per cent of British films in the first year, rising to 37½ per cent in the third year, although some wished to go as high as 50 per cent cent. On the other hand the Federation of British Industries are inclined to put the starting figure at "something over 5 per cent."

All parties, however, are agreed that the only effective legislative action against "all American" program is the imposition of a quota system and measures to counter the American block and blind-booking system. The trade also, while stating the quota would bring fresh capital into the industry, want the impost to be applied to film exhibitors as well as film renters.

One difficulty in framing an Act of Parliament is that no one is yet quite ready with an actual definition of what is a British film. The present proposals refer to "films made in Great Britain." But this would not exclude American films producing in Britain either with British or American capital.

Use New Club House First Time Tonight

Annual Meeting Of Members Will Be Conducted This Evening At New Clubhouse At Ellwood Country Club—Building Is Magnificent Clubhouse Structure—Built Of Native Stone

NEW ELLWOOD COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Feb. 18—The new club house of the Ellwood City Country club will open its doors for the first time tonight on the occasion of the annual meeting of members.

The building is of Pennsylvania Colonial period and was designed by Miss Louise Barton of the National Tube Mill Engineering department. The construction is of native stone and clap-board with a gree tile roof. The wooden portions of the building are painted white, making an imposing structure situated as it is on top of the knoll, and from its wide veranda a view can be had of the entire golf course.

One the basement floor are the grill rooms, locker rooms, men's showers and kitchen cellar. The heating system is vapour steam. On the first floor is the main entrance, the club room, ladies lounge and office. Lockers for lady golfers and rest rooms are on the second floor. At the other end of the building, the kitchen floor level is between the club room and grill. From this is a small dining room for group dinners. For large dinner parties there is a room provided which will also be used for the ball room.

There will be three places in the building, the one in the ladies lounge to be distinguished by a facing of tile designed by Mr. Pearson of the Pearson Brick company of New Castle who has taken a real interest in the edifice, and patterned the tile after some old Spanish designs. Two out of the ten bed-rooms on the second floor will be finished at the time of the opening, the others to be completed as needed.

It is expected that a fine driveway will be constructed to the club house from the main road. The approximate cost of the building is estimated at $50,000. The opening date is set tentatively at May 1. The lake formation seen in the illustration is a water hazard on hole No. 9.

Members of the building committee are: Frank Moltrup of Beaver Falls, chairman; W. W. Seidel, F. E. Moore, James Barton, Dr. Carl Hayes and William Seaton of Zelienople.

The personnel of the decorating committee comprises: Donald Campbell of Beaver Falls, chairman; Mrs. R. C. Stiefel, Mrs. Loring Gelbach, Miss Alice Barton, William Seaton and Norman Rearic.

A brief history of the club includes its inception in 1907 when the Johnson farm was bought. The club remained there for three years then moving to the junction at the Harmony line now being used for dwelling lots. They remained on this site until 1926 at which time, with $400 and a magnificent vision they bought the Hazen farm, paying for the balance by issuing bonds among the members. This is the present location and likely to be permanent.

J. J. Dunn was the first president of the club and John W. Offutt is the present head now in his fifth year of office, with George Moyer as secretary since 1915. Credit for the success of the club is largely due to the efforts and support of the National Tube company and its officials who have taken an active interest, putting their shoulders to the wheel and arriving finally at it's present triumphant climax.

The illustration shown was taken before the building was completed, the real edifice presenting a much more complete picture, and a club house that Ellwood City members will proudly own.

Dog Shooting Case Falls Short When Man Waives Hearing

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 18.—Scores of persons were attracted to the town hall in Evans City Wednesday night only to be disappointed when the scheduled hearing for Henry Dumbaugh, Harmony carpenter, charged with cruelty to animals as a result of shooting a valuable dog belonging to Harry Etheridge of Zelienople, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh, Harmony and New Castle Interurban Railway company, failed to materialize. The defendant waived a hearing and furnished bail of $500 for appearance in the higher court.

Dumbaugh was apprehended by L. M. Keely of Evans City secretary and superintendent of the Butler County Humane society Saturday. The dog was shot through the chest but was living today and veterinarians who call twice daily to see the "patient" say the pet has a chance to recover.

Dumbaugh declares he shot the dog because it annoyed his wife who is in poor health. The dog aged eight months and weighing 127 pounds was given Mr. Etheridge by David I. McCahill of Pittsburgh, president of the interurban campany. The dog is a daughter of Bodo, a German police dog of high breeding and wide repute, imported from Germany by Mr. McCahill.

It was kept in a pen at the home of Charley Sherman of Harmony and escaped by burrowing underneath the wire enclosure. The dog is valued at $150.

Health Program Well Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 18.—Crowds thronged the Lincoln High school gymnasium last evening to witness the health exhibition put on by children of the local schools.

The kiddies in the second grade were especially cute in their little rythmic plays. The entire program went through without a hitch, and several proud mothers were receiving congratulations from their friends at the close of the program.

The Union Polka, given by the eighth grade girls under the direction of Miss Thelma Adams was cleverly executed and finished to the last detail.

Space will not permit the extolling of all praises due the affair, but it was a credit to the local school training.

Building 22 Story Garage

New York Trying New Plan To Meet Problem Of Auto Storage

GOTHAM GOSSIP OF MANY KINDS

Interesting Facts About Metropolitan Doings By News Man

(By ARTHUR WIMER)
(New York Correspondent New Castle News)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A twenty-two story garage that will solve the storage problem for 572 car owners is a recent accomplishment of builders in New York City. The structure is an imposing affair, faced with white brick and limestone, and looks much like an ordinary office building.

Behind the many windows of the twenty-two stories is a system of elevators and tilting floors that makes the hoisting and parking of machines a comparatively simple operation. Everything is accomplished automatically after the driver runs his car into one of the elevators and turns off the motor. The car is lifted to the desired floor by the elevator and rolled into the designated stall by automatic tilting floors.

One hundred sixty-two thousand and fifty-two vehicles daily cross the bridges over the East River connecting New York City with Brooklyn. Of these 47,187 cross over the Manhattan Bridge, 18,581 the Manhattan Bridge, 36,796 the Williamsburg structure, and 57,488 the Queensboro span. In the vehicles are 333,928 passengers.

The theatre district of Broadway reached the peak of the season last week with 65 legitimate plays of all classes on the stage.

Six thousand bachelors evicted from the seven Y. M. C. A. dormitories of New York face marriage or boarding-house life. A one-year residence law recently put in effect decrees that the 6,000 men must leave the Y buildings and seek homes elsewhere.

Few of the luckless bachelors favor marriage. They plead that their wages, while sufficient to secure for them a room in the Y and recreation evenings, cannot meet the demands of married life.

Investigation reveals that the average wage among the men is $30 a week. The average cost per room in the Y dormitories is six dollars, and the average age of the residents is twenty-four years.

In New York 739,365 automobiles owned by residents of the City help add to the traffic congestion of the streets. That number of licenses were issued this year within the metropolitan area, an increase of 102,014 over the number issued during 1926.

Mrs. Aimee McPherson will conduct services in New York Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Los Angeles evangelist will preach in the Glad Tidings Tabernacle, a Pencostal church on West Thirty-third street.

The Rev. Robert A. Brown, pastor of the church, expects great crowds at the services. The auditorium will seat 1,000 persons, and in addition to this 1,000 more can be accommodated in the basement where amplifiers will be installed.

Insurance carried by American Negroes totals more than $1,399,000,000, according to a statement recently issued by the New York headquarters of the National Negro Association. Twenty-one negro insurance companies carry only one-eighth of this risk.

The enrollment at New York University for the second half of the school term, according to Registrar Henry C. Arnsdorf, will exceed 32,700. This is an increase of 5,887 students over the semester just ended.

Five New York girls are now enjoying a trip to Florida as a result of their hustling in soliciting funds for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the $30,000,000 edifice now under construction near Central Park. The girls were awarded the vacation for their efforts in securing contributions and pledges.

According to a recent statement of Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health, New York City has on supply only sufficient food for three days consumption. If the food supply were cut off for three days, Dr. Harris said, the City would be on the verge of starvation. The Doctor pointed out to what a great extent the hotels, restaurants, and food distributors were dependent upon the formers, and deplored the present drift from agriculture to industry.

The cost of maintainance and operation of the Police Department in New York City for 1926 was $33,307,609, or $5.67 per capita resident. For the year of 1915 the cost was $15,869,755, or $2.98 per capita.

Last year the city of Hazleton, Pennsylvania, showed the lowest cost for Police service, with ninety-two cents per capita. Springfield, Ohio, came second with $1.02.

The recent attempted censorship of the theatre in New York City produced the usual results. "The Virgin Man," one of the plays whose cast was arrested, has announced its intention of moving to a larger playhouse. The play is now showing in the Princess theatre, a house that seats only three hundred. The production was scheduled to close last Saturday night, but with the publicity given it through the arrest of the cast, seats are now in great demand and are sold out for weeks in advance.

England Plans To Double Tax On Port Wine

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill is considering the doubling of the tax on port wine, now the most popular drink in Britain. This increase would bring in an additional $15,000,000 yearly.

During 1926, 9,545,861 gallons of port were imported into Britain and the present tax is $1.50 per gallon. Churchill is inclined to bring the import tax up to $3.

Port has become increasingly popular in Britain since the war on account of the price and the bad quality of whisky.

Believing that the tax is likely to come into effect, wine shippers and merchants are moving all port from bond as quickly as possible.

Ordinary drinkable port in Britain ranges from $1 to $4 per quart bottle.

China and India contain approximately one-half the total population of the world.

Here And There Over The State

LANSFORD—Queer but true—the campaign to pay off the debt on St. Ann's R. C. Parish here went so strong that more money was raised than was needed. The sum asked for was $25,000, but $27,075 was secured in the drive.

BETHLEHEM — Prof. Howard Eckfeldt, of the department of mining engineering at Lehigh University here, wants the honor system restored at the institution. The system was abolished in 1923.

ALLENTOWN — Lehigh county citizens believe that the time is at hand to give up sending its delinquent boys to Glen Mills reformatory and to establish its own reform school. The example set by Luzerne county which runs its own reformatory for boys at Kis-Lyn, near Hazleton has been pointed out by those favoring a similar institution in Lehigh county.

GETTYSBURG — Both of the new buildings under construction at Gettysburg College here—The Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium and the Braidenbaugh Science Hall—are practically completed insofar as outside work is concerned. Most of the interior work is yet to be done. It is thought that the official dedication of both buildings will take place as a part of the commencement exercises in June.

PUNXSUTAWNEY — Gas well drilling is on the boom in this section of Pennsylvania with four wells already completed in the Walston Gas field north of this city. Four more wells are being drilled. Much excitement has been aroused by the bringing in of the wells. Representatives of various gas companies are attempting to land leases for more drilling in this section.

LEWISTOWN — Building plans already completed will assure Lewistown of a million and a half dollars to be expended for construction work in 1927.

International Newsreel.

HUNDREDS of thousands of miles of telegraph, telephone and submarine cable, and the invisible channels of wireless telegraphy cover the earth as if enveloped by the net of a gigantic spider web.

This is the nerve system of modern news gathering.

A glimpse of the center of this world-wide news web, the New York office of the International News Service, is shown in the photograph.

Thirty-six wires, many of which connect with the great arteries of the world communication system, converge in the New York bureau of the International News Service.

Ceaselessly they pour into this news nerve center the doings of fellow Americans in the farthest and darkest corners of the globe, the latest news of the passing of kings, of the marches of armed men, of volcanos vomiting fire and death.

Within a few seconds after the death of a monarch, the election of a president, or the passing of a great man, the information has flashed through this room and out again over the great private system of leased wires operated by the International News Service.

SUPER-GREYHOUND OF RAILS GOES ON DUTY

With impressive ceremonies, similar to those which accompany the launching of a ship, the New York Central Lines put into service at the American Locomotive Company's shops, Schenectady, N. Y., Engine No. 5200, the latest super-greyhound of the rails. It is a new type of locomotive—called the "Hudson type"—costing $100,000 and designed to haul much heavier passenger trains at present high speed schedules. Railroad officials say No. 5200 and its sisters will be able to draw the "Twentieth Century" or "Empire State Express" at an average of 90 miles an hour and could attain 120 miles an hour on a straight-away, if ever unleashed. But it is not intended to run at such speeds; the intention is to operate more cars to a section of limited trains, according to railroad men.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

WHAT A DAY FOR THE LOCUSTS!

What had happened was really this: Peter had wished himself into the Land of Long Ago, and, just as he had done once before when he had gone with Braveheart, the Cave Boy, to the den of the Bears, had wished himself right into the middle of Pat's story. Peter had become Petares, a lad of that old, old country, Egypt, on the Nile. Forgotten was poor faithful Pat. Petares' comrade was the lean dog. Instead of thinking of the little girl, Peter no longer, but Petares, thought of the day before, when he had been sailing his painted boat upon th lotus pond.

Suddenly the bright light of the sun had disappeared and there were moving shadows on the water. The sky, dark as with storm clouds, had been hidden from his eyes, and between him and the fleecy clouds, but a minute before floating in the blue, flew little winged creatures, hundreds of them, swarms of them, the whirring of whose wings sounded like the rising wind.

Thinking it over, Petares shivered. What a day it had been! While their places in the sky had been taken by their brothers, in swarms these winged pests alighted on the earth and an army of destruction, marched upon all the growing things in the field and garden. One could not see the purple grapes for their clinging bodies on the vines, and they attacked the flowers, stems and leaves, until the beautiful blossoms quite lost their heads with pain and fright. All around Petares the wicked locusts were hurting the things he loved, and he could not stop them. Then he was afraid and ran to the house. And after him ran the gardener, who cried that many of the bees, refusing to be driven from their dear blossoms, had fought with the locusts and been crushed by their numbers.

SUDDENLY THE BRIGHT LIGHT OF THE SUN HAD DISAPPEARED AND THERE WERE MOVING SHADOWS ON THE WATER.

Soon Petares' father came hurrying home from the city, and when he heard the terrible news he beat himself upon the breast and cried:

"Misfortune is this day come upon me, for if the bees come to harm where and how shall I gather the honey that buys my family bread?"

And Petares' mother wept:

"Truly a plague has come upon Egypt and the wicked locusts steal the food from our mouths. Unless we have food we cannot live!"

His father hurried to the temple to pray that the terrible pests might pass over. His mother shut herself in her room and would let none come near her to comfort her, not even her son, Petares. And the servants tore their clothes and wailed for the ill luck that had befallen Egypt.

DINNER STORIES

A schoolmaster named Bird was always being reminded of this fact by the boys. Once on entering the classroom he found the boys looking so grave that he looked around for signs of trouble. Sure enough, on the blackboard appeared a familiar quotation:

"Hail to thee, blithe spirit,
Bird thou never wert."

"Who wrote that?" he rapped out sharply.

Dead silence reigned for some moments. Then a small boy said: "Please, sir, I think it was Shelley!"

I was suffering from liver trouble and the doctor told me that if I laughed 15 minutes before each meal my condition would improve. One day in a restaurant, while having my little laugh a man at the opposite table walked over to me and said in an angry manner:

"What the devil are you laughing at?"

"Why, I am laughing for my liver", I said.

"Well, then, I guess I had better start laughing, too. I ordered mine half an hour ago."

An inspector of schools in South Africa invited some boys to join him in a swim in the lagoon. The boys watched him undress and go in, but themselves remained on the bank.

After a long and enjoyable swim the inspector chaffed the boys for not coming in, and said, "I suppose you are afraid to bathe with an inspector"?

"No, sir", said one of the boys, "but we saw a crocodile in this lagoon yesterday".

Vanity Cases For Doughboys, Latest

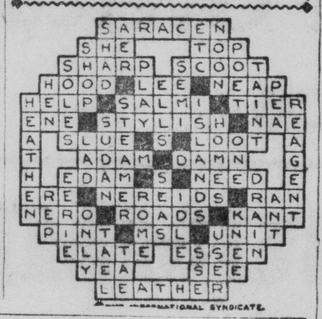

(International News Service)

FORT BENNING, Ga., Feb. 18.—Vanity cases may become the fashion for hard-boiled doughboys, if the plans of the Infantry Board here are carried into effect. In seeking a permanent home for the soldier's wandering toothbrush, the board conceived the idea of providing a kit wherein could be kept all of the soldier's toilet articles.

The new case is arranged to form an 8-inch pocket, which will accommodate toothbrush, tooth powder, soap and shaving outfit. It is intended to be carried in either the haversack or meat can.

Macedonia Bandits Who Murdered 300 Finally Executed

(International News Service)

BELGRADE, Feb. 18.—Stojan Stojadinovic and Slavko Janovic, both notorious revolutionists and bandits of Macedonia, have been executed after terrorizing the country districts for five years and perpetrating more than 300 murders. Macedonian bandits are real tough personages, even for their profession, and these two ended their careers characteristically by committing a last murder on the night before their execution.

The bandits were captured in a small village of Istip in Macedonia and were sentenced to death on the count of murdering 10 people of the neighboring village, Kadrifalovo.

As a last wish Stojadinovic asked to be allowed to kiss his fellow prisoners farewell. The request was granted and the prisoners passed before Stojadinovic, who kissed them. When it came the turn of a convict named Mitrovic, Stojadinovic suddenly opened his mouth and began to bite the man's face. The victim was only rescued by the guards after half his face had been torn away, and he died later in the prison hospital. Stojadinovic declared he took revenge on Mitrovic because he had testified against him at the trial.

On the morning of the execution when the guard removed the chains from the wrists of Javanovic the prisoner suddenly produced a knife and stabbed the guard to death.

Webster Escapes Electric Chair

Jury Returns Verdict Of Guilty Of Murder In Second Degree

(International News Service)

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 18. — Harold F. Webster, dapper young former Florida real estate salesman who clubbed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Galloway, to death with an iron bar, has escaped the electric chair.

A jury, after seven hours and fifty-two minutes deliberation, found him guilty of murder in the second degree early today. He had been charged with murder in the first degree in the indictment.

Sentence will be passed next Monday. Webster, meanwhile, has been remanded to jail.

Webster seemed relieved when the verdict was announced. Judge Smith told him he was a fortunate man to escape the electric chair.

"Yes sir, I am," replied Webster.

The only sentence Webster can receive under the law is twenty years to life imprisonment.

Webster's wife, who had told the jury her love for her husband was dead, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. Neither was his mother, Mrs. Alice Garrison, who broke down yesterday. When told of the verdict she cried and said:

"Thank God, my boy is saved."

New Castle has had contests for old fashioned fiddlers and also for dancers.

Why not have an old fashioned spelling?

Horse races are dependent on a difference in opinion. The writer was the champion speller of Lawrence county 24 years ago and I do not think there are as many good spellers now as then.

If the News will promote a spelling bee I will spell againsst the last six standing after the other contestants are "spelled down."

The only restrictions as to the source of words being that they are words in fairly common use in the English language and not newcomers of doubtful authography.

Respectfully,
J. Q. STEWART,
Enon Valley, R. D. 1.

HURLED 30 FEET, GREENVILLE PAIR SAVED BY MUD

GREENVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18—Sol Bailey of Stewart avenue, driver of a truck owned by the Hodge Manufacturing company, and Carl Diefenderfer, 265 Clinton street a passenger were slightly injured when struck by a freight train at the State street crossing of the Bessemer railroad. Both men are in the local hospital but their injuries are not expected to prove serious. The truck was demolished.

The train was being pushed backward over the crossing at the time of the accident. Bailey according to witnesses evidently failed to hear the brakeman's warning as the truck approached the tracks. Both men were hurled 30 feet into soft mud. Physicians were amazed that no bones were broken.

The wiser we are the more readily do we perceive that real happiness lies in our grasp.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT.

Pancakes and sausage are essentially winter dishes and are usually served for breakfast. They make good supper dishes too. the pancakes taking the place of dessert.

Grapefriut
Pancakes Syrup
Whole Wheat Toast
Pork Sausage Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES.

Pancakes—One cup milk, two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, two tablespoons melted butter, one egg, beaten. Mix dry ingredients and add beaten egg and milk and beat thoroughly. Add a teaspoon of baking powder the last thing before baking. Bake in an aluminum griddle without grease.

Pork Sausage—Be sure to cook your sausage thoroughly not to death of course, but enough to insure their being done through and nicely browned on the outside. Have the skillet warm but not too hot when you put the sausage in. Let it cook slowly until nicely browned.

Syrup—If you haven't maple syrup make a very good syrup of one cup of brown sugar and two-thirds cup granulated sugar. Add three-fourths up water and cook until it begins to thread.

SUGGESTIONS.

Do you use an oil stove with a long chimney and if so do you use a blue flame only when cooking? Oil stove experts maintain that for fast cooking the wick may be turned up until the blue flame is topped by yellow tips about an inch and a quarter in length. With this flame a steak can be fried as fast as well as with this type of stove as with a gas stove.

A pamphlet which would be useful to any home maker has recently been issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is entitled "The Identification of Furniture Wood." Besides instructing in the means of identifying woods in spite of stains and finishes the pamphlet discusses the relative merits of venered and solid furniture and gives directions for the proper care of furniture. It may be obtained from the superintendent of documents at Washington for 25 cents.

MENU HINT

The menu following is hearty for people who work. If the cream soup is considered too filling and spoils the appetite for the rest of the meal, a lighter soup or fruit may be substituted. A salad is sometimes served first as an appetizer instead of with the dinner.

Cream of Celery Soup
Roast Veal Brown Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Cole Slaw Banana Pudding
Dates Tea Milk

TODAY'S RECIPES

Candied Sweet Potatoes—Boil in salted water one quart sweet potatoes until tender; drain and scrape off skins. Cut in pieces and lay in shallow greased baking dish; brush with melted butter, sprinkle with one-half cup brown sugar, add two tablespoons butter. Bake in hot oven until well browned.

Banana Pudding—Take one dozen ladyfingers, six bananas, two cups whipped cream, one-fourth cup powdered sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Cover the bottom of dish with a layer of the ladyfingers, next a layer of sliced bananas, over this a layer of whipped cream into which has been put the sugar and vanilla. Repeat until all are used. Serve cold.

SUGGESTIONS

Savory Herbs

Dry parsley and celery leaves in equal parts on top of the oven. Dried in this manner they retain their color and flavor and can be powdered. Put it in small glass jars for winter use. It is fine in soups, dressing and meat and handy to use.

Prune Salad

Take the stones out of large cooked prunes (allow four to each person to be served.) Fill with a mixture of creamed cheese and chopped nuts. Arrange on crisp lettuce leaf and cover with salad dressing. Another combination is to use sections of grape fruit and oranges on lettuce with two prunes, stuffed as above or merely with nuts, at either side of the plate.

Lady Lauder's (Wife of Sir Harry Lauder) Scotch Scone

One pound of well sifted flour, one teaspoonful of baking soda, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, pinch of salt, one teaspoonful of fine sugar.

Mix all dry ingredients together thoroughly, then sufficient buttermilk to make a nice medium dough.

Turn on a flour board and knead as gently as possible with the tips of the fingers. Roll out quickly until one-quarter inch thick. Cut into four, bake on a hot griddle or plate. Turn over on both sides.

Bread Pudding—One pint—two cups—bread crumbs, one and one-half cups sugar, one quart sweet milk, four eggs, juice and rind of one lemon, two tablespoons butter, raisins added if desired. Soak the crumbs in milk, add one cup sugar, beaten yolks of eggs and grated rind of lemon. Bake in moderate oven until set. Let cool. Beat the whites of eggs to stiff froth, adding one-half cup sugar and juice of lemon. Spread a layer of tart jelly over top of pudding and add the meringue. Place in oven to brown and serve with cream.

Mill Workers Provide Most Recruits For Police Force

However, Men On New Castle Police Force Come From Many Vocations

Ranks From Which Policemen Were Recruited Are Presented

From what pursuit do policemen come, is a question often asked but according to an examination of a list of policemen serving the people of New Castle, no one calling has a monopoly on prospective policemen.

They mostly come from the tin mill but those who did not work there when they were named "cops" came from stores, railroads, steel mill, shoemaking, baseball, pugilism, taxicab, glass-houses, ice wagons, paper-hanging and other pursuits.

For instance the chief of police, one Henry Dysart, 170 pounds, smoothface, slightly gray about the ears, inclined to dress flashy, and about 45 years of age (as he would be docketed,) is a former tin worker.

Captain J. Ed. Elder, traffic captain, likewise followed tin work but Sergeant Frank Jones delved in insurance. Creighton Logan was a paper-hanger and Cy Horner worked in a wire mill. "Brig" Young was a mill worker; likewise "dude" Moore while Tom Lynch was a road supervisor.

Other occupations of policemen before adorning their hearts with a star follow: Fred Shuler, car works; Bill Tyrrell, puddler Pete Hilliers, ten worker; Bill McConaghy, carpenter; James Wysner, glass worker.

George Wyman worked in a wire mill, Mike Connors was a barber; Johnny Young was a tin mill man and Nick Faella eared a living repairing shoes. Tommy Jones was a pugilist; Frank Reynolds, a tin worker, D. T. Nelson, railroader and Charlie Longstreth worked on ane ice wagon.

Ray Richards earned a livelihood in the tin mill and Lieutenant U. G. Harper drove a taxicab; J. C. Syling put up retainers on a railroad car, Joe Greer travelled to the tin mill and Jimmie Hagan punched a clock at the steel plant.

Mike Ritty was a glass-worker, J. Will walls, a chain maker and Clarence Campbell, a blacksmith; Jimmie Steiner was a machinist and D. T. Thomas a tin mill employee. Charlie Augostine was a steel mill craneman and Harry Flinner worked in the tin plants.

Ray Thompson was a mill electrician and Bud Fleeger was a railroader as was C. C. Lockhart. William Allgier and "Ducky" Samuels were employed in a pottery while Bill James performed for pay as a ball player. Bob Dukes drove an auto truck.

Ralph Lewellyn graduated from an auto bus to the police department and Ralph Criswell left the mill to mount the motorcycle. John Golis was a clerk and Mrs. M. P. McKibben was a housewife.

In Massachusetts three witnesses to a will are necessary to legalize it.

Death Of Japanese Emperor Results In New National Holiday

(International News Service)

TOKIO Feb. 18.—As a reslt of the death of the late Emperor Yoshihito one important national holiday has been struck from the Japanese calendar. This was the anniversary of death of the great Emperor Meiji who died July 30, 1912.

Dropping of this holiday was in accordance with custom which requires that when one emperor dies the country shall observe the anniversary of his death as a national hoiday and cease to so observe that of his predecessor.

Because of the outstanding place of Emperor Meiji in Japanese history however, a movement has been launched to honor him by setting aside the anniversary of his birth November3 as an anual holiday calling it "Meiji Setsu."

U. S. Gives Europe Advertising Points

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 18.—"Europe is coming to America for inspiration and leadership in the advertising field", C. K. Woodbridge, president of the International Advertising Association, declared while attending the convention of the association here.

"Europe is intensely interested in what we are doing in advertising in America", asserted Woodbridge, who, as president of the international association, has made several trips through continental Europe to aid in building up advertising organizations there.

Advertising in France however, Mr. Woodbridge said, was still in the "stunt" stage. "Progress in France has not been as rapid. France still lacks the American principal of co-operation in obtaining the best results. But all Europe is rapidly realizing that advertising has played a great part in making the United States the commercial and industrial leader of the world and is more and more coming to America for leadership and advice."

Tries Suicide By Several Methods

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 18.—Poison, chloroform, a belt and shoe laces failed to help Cloyd R. Folk, 30, Altoona, in an attempt to commit suicide, police said.

He drank poison and fell into the hands of police. When searched he had a bottle of chloroform.

In a cell, Folk tried to hang himself, using his belt for a noose, but he was cut down unconscious. Later a second attempt, with shoe laces used as a noose, failed, according to police.

A guard was stationed near the prisoner to forestall further attempts.

Horse Thief Detecting Society Dissolves

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Feb. 18.—The passing of the horse as desirable booty for the thief, who has turned his attention to the more easily disposed of automobile, was reflected in the current business of the county court.

The Mutual Horse Thief Detecting Society of Glen Rock, which for a number of years has done business in York county, filed a petition for dissolution of the corporation, which was chartered by the local court. March 14 was set as the date for the hearing.

The petition sets forth that the decision to dissolve was reached at a meeting of the stockholders, held last December; that corporation has no debts; no capital stock, funding being derived from dues paid by members; no taxes are due and there is $1945.80 in treasury. The society has not been called upon to pay claim on a stolen horse or seek a horse thief for a number of years.

NEW CASTLE HIGH HAS CHANCE TO COP TITLE

Plays Butler Here Tonight

Victory Tonight Will Give New Castle High Sectional Championship

GIRLS HOPE TO SECURE REVENGE

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle High will battle Butler High here tonight at the Senior High floor. The locals need but one more victory to cinch the championship of Section IV of the W. P. I. A. L.

The New Castle High girls will play Beaver Falls High in the preliminary game that starts at 7:15 o'clock.

If New Castle High comes through with a victory tonight the sectional title will be firmly entrenched within the confines of this man's territory for at least another year. Should the locals pull through tonight it will mark the second straight floor championship that has trickled into the local institution. The 1925-26 team won the title in Section III last year after a terrific fight.

Butler High will come to New Castle imbued with the idea that "the best of them must fall". New Castle has gone through an undefeated league record to date by taking seven straight victories. It is a long road that has no turning, is an old saying, and the road is just liable to be rather "bumpy" tonight.

The locals defeated Butler, 23 to 18, in their first meeting of the year on the Butler floor, and for that reason the Red and Black cid spheroid tossers are rated as favorites to repeat the performance tonight.

Butler High, it is understood, has improved considerably in the past several games, enough, in fact, to climb up within hailing distance of the locals.

Girls to Play

The New Castle High girls will play their final home game of the year tonight on the Senior High court by meeting the strong Beaver Falls High girl team in a return game to the one played recently in the valley.

The Beaver Falls maidens defeated New Castle in their meeting by a score of 20 to 11. The Coach Boyd girls are anxious to avenge this setback tonight.

It will be the last home game of their scholastic career for two of the girls tonight. Miss Patterson and Miss Wolf will graduate in June, leaving two important gaps to be filled for next year. Both girls have been a tower of strength to the locals throughout two years of varsity work.

Following is the probable line-up of the boys' game for tonight:

New Castle		Butler
Reider	F	Harper
Richards	F	Betty
McGrath	C	Wersh
Sillman	G	Lobunano
Ostrosky	G	Dickson

Athletics Start Trip To South

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—Piloted by Kid Gleason, the first group of the Philadelphia Athletics leaves tonight for the spring training camp at Fort Myers, Fla. The first detachment consists mostly of pitchers and catchers. Besides Coach Gleason, the squad will include, pitchers Ehmke and Yerkes and catchers Cochrane, Perkins, and Bates. Other flingers will join the party enroute.

Mahoning Quintet Defeats Grocers By Score 47 To 12

The Mahoning A. A. team strengthened by the addition of Boone, Patterson and Blythe of the Wampum Indies team, defeated the Marcella Grocers 47 to 12 in a game played on Thursday night at the Mahoningtown school court.

The Christians were ahead at the first half by a score of 23 to 7. The Shamrocks played a better game in the third and fourth quarters and scored a total of 11 points.

The entire Christian team played a bang-up game, with Kearns and J. Burns the best for the Shamrocks.

Australians To Deport Fighter

Reisler Attacks Referee After He Loses Ring Decision

OFFICIALS CANCEL OTHER ENGAGEMENTS

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 18. — Johnny Reisler, New York boxer, today was awaiting deportation following an unscheduled ring battle against a referee here last night.

The referee awarded the decision in a 15-round bout to Reisler's Australian opponent, and the American swung on the official, punching and wrestling with him until attendants could pull them apart. The fans rushed the ring and it took a strong police force to keep Reisler from being badly handled.

The remainder of Reisler's Australian tour has been canceled by the authorities and he will be sent back to America on the next boat. Fans gave Reisler only one of the 15 rounds.

Mountaineer Quint At Grove City For Floor Game Tonight

Grove City Hopes To Annex Second Victory Over West Virginia Crew

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 18. — Coach Bob Thorn's Grove City College passers encounter stiff opposition tonight at the local gym when the West Virginia University quint invades this district to meet the grovers in a return engagement. This game has been looked forward to as one of the feature contests on the Crimson schedule and from all indications a record throng of fans will turn out to witness the setto.

West Virginia fell at the hands of Grove City at Morgantown last Saturday but their defeat was partly due to the fact that Coach Stadsvold's aggregation of passers had just recently returned from a four day trip to the south and the players undoubtedly were worn out from the long trip. The Mountaineers, however, were idle this week and following intensive preparation for the game are primed to battle the Grovers tonight.

West Virginia "U" is enjoying a good year on the hardwoods this season. They hold victories over Pitt, Allegheny and other leading quints and when at their best are a dangerous foe. Stansvold has in Hagberg, Taylor and Ashworth, a group of seasoned players who are well adept to the game. These lads all are over the six foot mark and Grove City will find the invaders hard to stop.

Following their victory over Thiel on Tuesday night, Thorn granted his players a day of rest. A snappy work-out was held last night for the West Virginia game and everything appears in readiness. Captain Stevens and his mates realize that they have a tough battle on hand tonight as the Mountaineers are in a fighting mood and will battle every minute of the fracas to avenge the setback received last Saturday at the Ark.

Plan Benefit Game At Y.M.C.A. Next Wednesday

Plans are going forward for a double basketball attraction at the Y. M. C. A. on next Wednesday night. The games will be played as a benefit for the Y. M. C. A. wrestling team.

In the first game of the bill the Rick-Overland maidens will clash with the strong Lisbon girls team. The Lisbon maidens defeated the locals earlier in the season at Lisbon, and the Overlands will try to avenge this setback.

The main attraction of the evening will find the Rick-Overland boys pitted against the Grove City Collegians. The Collegians is a picked team from Grove City College.

The Y. M. C. A. wrestling team is in a bad way financially and with several meets lined up for the next few months they will need some assistance. It is planned to have a couple of wrestling matches between the first and second game.

Fight Managers Are Summoned In Ticket Tangle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. — Pete Reilly and Dan Carroll, respective managers of Jack Delaney and Jim Maloney, will be hailed before the Boxing Board today to be interrogated about their distribution of tickets for tonight's Delaney-Maloney fight. Some of their allotment, it is charged, have been found in the hands of speculators. Albert W. Loose, secretary to Tex Rickard, also has been summoned to furnish data from the offices of Madison Square Garden.

The ticket hearing will precede the ceremony of weighing the boxers.

Spring Training Days for These Big Leaguers Means Golf

Spring training "grind" has already started for some of the major league ball players. And, my, what a tough grind it is. Here we have Sam Rice and "Goose" Goslin, who'll be teammates with Tris Speaker in the Washington outfield this season, sunning themselves between golf games at Hot Springs, Ark., and Jess Petty, Brooklyn Dodger southpaw, about to do something with a golf ball at the same resort.

Wampum Indies Defeat J. & L. Quint 60 To 29

The Wampum Indies defeated the Jones & Laughlin Steel Mill team 60 to 29 in a game played on the Wampum Opera House floor on Tuesday night. The Indies gave the fans one of the finest exhibitions of field goal tossing seen in these parts in many years.

The game was nip and tuck the first two periods with the Wampum boys ahead by a score of 25 to 17 at the end of the first half. The "Steelet" went to pieces in the third and fourth quarters and allowed the Wampum boys to run wild. The third quarter ended 46 to 20, in favor of the Wampumites.

Boone, Patterson and Blythe were the big scorers for the Wampum team, this trio responsible for 24 baskets. For the losers the work of Davis and H. Wall was the best.

Manager Blythe of the Indies would like to schedule first class teams in this section for games either at home or abroad.

The lineup and summary:

Wampum Indies 60.		J. & L. 29.
Boone	f	Miller
Patterson	f	Davis

KAUFMANN TO PITCH FOR CUBS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The annual baseball mystery, "where is Tony Kaufmann?" was solved today when Tony "gave himself up" voluntarily and admitted he had signed a contract to pitch for the Cubs during the season of 1927.

Tony, as usual, had been reported a holdout, but the lure of the trip to sunny California, only a week away, brought the Bruin hurler to terms. Today he was busy packing up to join the rest of the troupe on the training trip to Catalina Island.

President William Veeck of the Clubs announced that all of the Bruin family are now accounted for with one exception. He wouldn't name names, but the concensus is the lone holdout is Charley Root, another pitcher.

The terms of Kaufmann's contract were not revealed.

Delaney Favored Over Jim Maloney In Tonight's Fight

TUNE-UP BOUT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—Fistiana's toreador—lithe, graceful, good to look at but deadly in his cold blood—and the bull image of a man from the Boston fish markets will have at it tonight in all the blood fury of ancient Rome at its height—or depth.

The occasion will be the semi-championship heavyweight meeting between Jack Delaney, that majestic scion of the north woods, and Jimmy Maloney, the fishmonger with the paunch of a brewer and the charging rush of a bull. They will meet over the ten round distance and so agitated is the populace over the prospect that Madison Square Garden will suffer a terrible rush of customers to the portals.

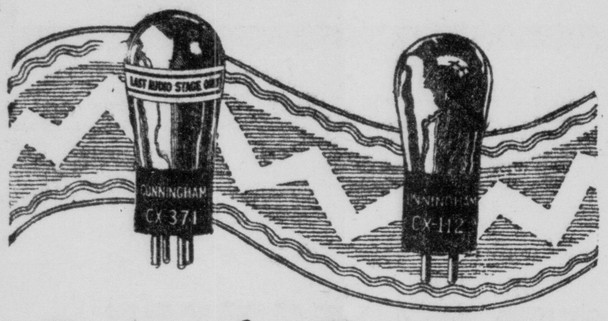

Nineteen thousand, in all, will observe the proceedings as best they may. Their number might well have been trebled, for New York has gone stark mad over the match and would have thrust money upon poor Mr. Rickard with great avity if the gentleman were in a position these many weeks, for some mysterious reason, and the speculators have been considerably irritated by the number of gents they have been forced to push upon the chest.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Brothers and sisters, let us not get perturbed over the prospects of Babe Ruth, master of the bat, and Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, having a knockdown, drag out fight over the matter of Babe's weekly stipend.

There's going to be considerable long distance fighting. Oh my, how mean both may become. Ruth has already returned the first contract offered him—a renewal of the one he has had the last two years. Ruppert has pleaded the high cost of financing a pennant winning team—including the extra gate keepers one has to hire to take care of 50,000 or 60,000 persons at a game.

And Ruth says he may forsake the game for the movies.

Oh, dear.

But here's the lowdown:

Ruth can make a fortune in the off months in the movies—as long as he is a great ball player.

Were he to quit the game his popularity as a screen attraction would soon fade. He would be Babe Ruth, the FORMER big league star and home run king.

With Rogers Hornsby and Eddie Roush added as star attractions and playing strength by the New York Giants the Yankees must have Ruth as a counter irritant. They must keep the crowds if they don't make any money. A poor year for the Yankees and their prestige and popularity would shrivel under the blinding glow cast by the Giant array.

WRITE YOUR OWN TICKET.

Figure out for yourself how much chance there is of the game losing Babe Ruth—Or the Yankees really arguing with him. The contract argument is a neat piece de resistance to feed the fans until the southern training season starts in earnest.

Speaking of Ruth, Roush and Hornsby. Oh, what a beautiful time the outfielders opposing the Giants are going to have this coming season—with Rogers, Eddie and Slugging Bill Terry socking the pill with deadly, consistent, and leg tiring regularity. Suggestions for rule changes next winter may include a plea for motorcycles for National League gardeners—with butterfly attachments.

I WAS JUST THINKING ABOUT—

The surprise Ritchie Mitchell gave Benny Leonard on Jan. 14, 1921, in the battle in Madison Square Garden. After being knocked down three times in the first round, Mitchell floored Leonard for the first time in the champ's career. Mitchell was knocked out in the sixth.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

"Didn't I tell you it was different?"

"MY NEIGHBOR invited me in to see his new radio set.

"'What'll you have?' he said. I ordered a good band concert. He turned a little dial on the front of the set—and there was my band!"

"'Now watch,' my friend said, another little turn of the dial and there was a violinist—in less time than it would take to snap your fingers.

"'Didn't I tell you I was going to show you something different?' said my friend. 'You see, this is one of those Atwater Kent Receivers with only ONE Dial. As there are no other dials or knobs to juggle with, you don't have to wait to figure out combinations. You get any station within range with a flick of the wrist. If you want to, sample them all, like this—'

"He gave the dial a slow half-turn. It was a regular roll call of stations. As fast as one faded out, another came in. It was the simplest, speediest radio set I ever saw—the best tone I ever heard, too. And so I'm here to get one like it."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

The Destroying Angel — By Feg Murray

— Associated Newspaper Service

Jack Delaney, light-heavyweight champion of the world, faces no set-up tonight when he meets the strong, aggressive Boston heavyweight, Jim Maloney. Jack Delaney has shown the world of fistiana that he is growing bigger, stronger, and better right along, and though Maloney is touted by many as being the coming heavyweight champion of the world, this flashing-eyed, handsome French-Canadian should beat him and go on to further ring glory.

Hand it to Ovila Chapdelaine for many reasons—for his good looks and knightly bearing, his courage, his boxing ability, his knock-out wallop, and also for NOT going into the movies after he won a title, and thus spoiling his chances of taking on weight and improving his general physical condition. And Jack is one of the few heavyweights who has the looks and the ability to be a moive star, too, yet he had the good sense to go up into the woods he loves so well and live the healthiest kind of an outdoor life.

Delaney, you know, is a sharpshooter in more ways than one. He has a regular arsenal of guns at his home, and the keenest of eyes and the steadiest of hands to direct their fire. Then, too, on the bowling alleys he can shoot a ball as straight as a die. In the ring, his famous "half-right uppercuts" has broken so many pugilistic bubbles that it isn't hard to imagine him shooting over a haymaker with it on the sturdy chin of the "Boston Strong Boy," Jim Maloney.

After seeing Jack knock heavyweight Gorman kicking, I am ready for anything and am quite willing to align myself with those who pick Jack Delaney as the next heavyweight champion of the world. Gene Tunney is good to look at in the ring, but Jack Delaney is a work of art, too, and at the same time a better boxer and a harder hitter than Tunney.

Now let's hope both parties in this Maloney-Delaney affair don't decide to wait for the other to start something.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Fall of Island Number Ten.

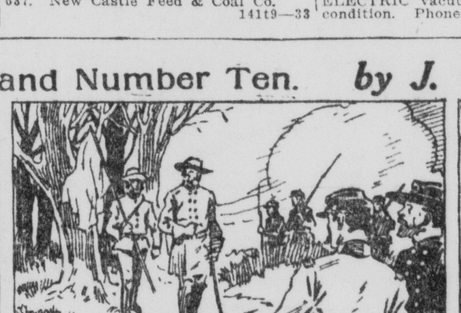

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON APRIL 6, 1862, THE FEDERAL GUNBOATS ACTING WITH GEN. POPE'S UNION ARMY SILENCED THE CONFEDERATE BATTERIES ON THE MISSISSIPPI BELOW ISLAND NUMBER TEN AND CLEARED THE WAY FOR THE ADVANCE OF THE TROOPS. POPE CROSSED THE RIVER THE SAME DAY AND HURRIED FORWARD TO TRAP THE CONFEDERATES.

AT THE SAME TIME TROOPS HAD BEEN SENT THROUGH THE CANAL WHICH CONNECTED WITH THE RIVER ABOVE THE ISLAND, AND THESE CLOSED IN UPON THE CONFEDERATE POSITIONS TO PREVENT ANY ATTEMPT AT ESCAPE IN THAT DIRECTION.

REALIZING THAT RESISTANCE WOULD BE OUT OF THE QUESTION, THE CONFEDERATES EVACUATED THE ISLAND AND SET OUT FOR TIPTONVILLE TO THE SOUTH. HERE THEY WERE CUT OFF BY POPE'S MEN AND DRIVEN TO THE SWAMPS, WHERE THEY WERE FORCED TO YIELD ON APRIL 7.

GEN. BEAUREGARD WITH THE GREATER PART OF HIS ARMY ESCAPED CAPTURE. HE HAD QUIETLY SLIPPED AWAY BEFORE THE UNION CORDON CLOSED ABOUT HIS POSITIONS AND AT THE MOMENT THE FEDERALS TOOK POSSESSION OF THE ISLAND WAS MILES AWAY ON THE MARCH TO JOIN FORCES WITH ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON AT CORINTH, MISSISSIPPI.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The dividend-paying railroad stocks were the center of interest in early trading in the stock market today, and, under the leadership of Pennsylvania, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific, the march to higher price levels went forward without interruption. Huge gains in net 1926 income by the railroad companies, reported after the close of yesterday's market, furnished the principal incentive for the insistent buying demand for the better grade of transportation stocks.

Pennsylvania, which has been practically dormant during the wild and buoyant market in the speculative rails, jumped into the limelight with an enormous volume of sales on the way up to 61½, the highest price since 1914. Northern Pacific and Great Northern, the basis of the new Northwestern merger, equalized each other around 91¼, while stocks of the "southwestern merger" group, Kansas City Southern, Katy and St. Louis Southwestern commanded a strong and active market rails as well as in the motor and ate decline in the ... in these groups, and the market as a whole was irregular and unsettled in the second hour.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent, and no disappointment was expressed over the failure of the New York Reserve Bank directors to lower the rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent.

Council delayed introduction of a proposed ordinance changing the grade of the sidewalk and cartway of Quest between North and Crescent streets.

Councilman Genkinger instructed the city solicitor to prepare a bill providing for the paving of Albert street from Leasure avenue to Clenmore boulevard. Genkinger believes this is necessary as part of Albert street is in an intolerable condition and a new school addition is being erected on the street. His idea is to prepare a good route to the school and his colleagues believe that the paving when finally laid will be a big improvement.

Beauty Gains Success Before She Reaches 21

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

DANVILLE, Ill., Feb. 18—It was a pretty face and vocal talent that took Helen Morgan off of little old Main Street and tossed her on good old Broadway at a very early age. NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—As the result of the most sensational liquor raid staged on Broadway, the "300" club, of which the famous "Texas" Guinan is the hostess, was ordered padlocked for a period of six months of Federal Judge Bondy here today.

"Poor" Printer Left Big Hidden Hoard

NORFOLK, Neb., Feb. 18.—For more than 40 years Herman Brummond lived the life of a poverty-stricken printer, and after his death his family was stounded to find hidden in various places about an old building he owned and occupied with his print shop, mortgages, Liberty bonds, silver, gold and paper money the exact amount of which they kept secret but which is said to be in the neighborhood of $40,000.

Brummond had a wife and three daughters, but none of them ever knew that he had any money.

Brummond even lighted his building with kerosene lamps. He had no dealings with banks, having often expressed his distrust of them. Shortly before his death he was stricken with paralysis and never regained consciousness.

Forty years ago he worked for the daily newspaper here during the day and at night he repaired to the old building and set type for a little German publication which began as a monthly and later became a weekly.

The first knowledge of his having left anything came with the finding of $1,500 in gold and War Savings Stamps in his office. Then began a systematic search of the old building and discovery of the hidden treasure.

Fever Epidemic At Mars Believed To Be Under Control

Six Cases Of Scarlet Fever Also Reported — Homes Quarantined

MARS, Pa., Feb. 18.—In the throes of a scarlet fever epidemic the past week, citizens of Mars breathed easier today when it was learned that no new cases had been reported to the health authorities. There are about 20 cases reported within the past week.

Precautionary measures, however, have been taken, and all persons suffering from the malady have been quarantined. All public meeting places, such as schools and churches, have been fumigated in an effort to curb the spread of the disease.

No new cases have been reported within the past 48 hours, and those in touch with the situation expressed belief today the spread of the malady had been checked. Health authorities in Mars said today that unless the disease spreads to a marked degree the schools will not be closed.

It is believed a pupil in the Mars public school was unwittingly responsible for the outbreak, as all the cases reported thus far emanated from the same room as that in which the child was a pupil. About six families have been invaded by the malady.

Herman health authorities also reported six cases of scarlet fever today, all of which have been quarantined. They expressed the belief they had the disease under control at that place.

New Day Coaches On Through Trains Of Pennsylvania Co.

Those who choose to travel by day-coach on the through lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad will find coach travel more pleasant and comfortable than formerly for the company have placed in operation 74 all-steel passenger cars of improved design.

These new coaches have been adopted by the Pennsylvania Railroad as its standard for through express service. The improvements include a new interior color design, brighter lighting and larger toilet and wash room facilities, easier riding qualities and increased comfort in seating.

The ceilings are painted light ivory instead of green, hitherto used, and the power of the lamps has been increased 50 per cent. The result is a much brighter and more cheerful car. The sash of green glass, which, in the older type extends the full length of the car just below the ceiling, has been eliminated and a continuous sheet of metal substituted.

The seat backs have been made two inches higher, to give better support to the head. The windows are equipped with exceptionally heavy weather stripping, preventing drafts in cold weather. A linoleum aisle strip has been laid the full length of the car, providing a softer and more comfortable walking surface.

Seventy-four cars of the improved design have been placed in operation.

MAYOR KEEPS JOB; OUSTER PLAN FAILS

LISBON, O., Feb. 18.—Removal proceedings filed against Mayor W. L. Fogo, Republican, of Wellsville, by 417 citizens, who alleged he had usurped the duties of the service safety director and illegally suspended Chief of Police John H. Fultz, were unexpectedly dismissed in Columbiana court by Judge Thomas D. Price of New Lexington.

The dismissal followed a motion and demurrer by Fogo's counsel, who claimed the charges against the mayor had not been verified. Attorney W. H. Spence, representing petitioners, gave notice that he would appeal the case on error.

The proceedings were an aftermath of a year of controversy between the mayor and Chief Fultz, during which Fultz was twice removed. Fultz was reinstated a few days ago by Judge Price, who presided at today's hearing.

Pilsudski May Be Made Poland's King Under New Program

(International News Service)

WARSAW, Feb. 18.—A king for Poland is a possibility now that a coalition of all monarchial parties of the country has been effected. Heretofore there has been almost a score of small monarchist parties, each with a separate candidate for royal honors, and attempting to establish a throne alone. Now they have formed the party of National Rights under the leadership of Duke John Radziwill which will control about a third of the electorate, and which will seek to gain further Fasciti support by a strong national program.

It is quite possible that in a political crisis the party of Duke Radziwill may be able to gain sufficient strength to control the government and carry out its plan to establish a monarchy.

The National Rights party is especially strong outside Warsaw, where it actually commands a majority of the votes. It now controls the Conservative-Monarchist party of Cracow and the Monarchist Peasant party of Posen, which have been influenced by Marshal Pisudski and entered the new party with the approval of the Marshal. The National Rights have no definite candidate for the throne but its improbable that Pilsudski himself may become its favorite, especially if he publicly declares for its parliamentary support, which he is expected to do if the government is forced into a crisis over the recent widespread arrests of Communists and the discovery of alleged Communist plots.
